SIKESTON STREETS TO BE DECORATED DURING HOLIDAYS

A Chamber of Commerce meeting held Tuesday night in the New Armory, and attended by some thirty-five representative business men decided not to let Christmas of 1930 pass without lighting the Sikeston business district to fit the occasion.

The suggestion came from E. C. Matthews, who with Mayor N. E Fuchs and H. C. Young, will report at an early date on the cost of lighting the business district with strands of colored lights.

Heretofore, the towns of Charleston, Dexter, Malden, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau and Cairo have been lighted for the Christmas season. Sikeston presented its usual gloomy appearance after nightfall. The plan this year is to have every merchant in the city to make special efforts to trim windows with seasonable merchandise, to use lights whenever and wherever possible for greater disply effects, and to keep alive the friendly, free-hearted Christmas spirit with special street decorations. C. E. Brenton, District Manager of the Missouri Utilities Company, stated that he would have an accurate estimate of the cost available for the committee within two days.

The Chamber of Commerce group also discussed ways and means of stimulating trade during the coming season, by carrying out a plan similar to that evolved and carried it successful conclusion by Cape Girardeau merchants. A committee was appointed to estimate the cost of the plan and to report this week-end to another called meeting.

CAMPBELL BANK LOCKS ITS DOORS

Campbell, November 19.—The First National Bank of Campbell, organized thirty years ago, was closed today by order of the board of directors. It is said frozen loans, the general business depression and crop conditions were factors in the closing.

The bank was a member of the Federal Reserve System and had capital and surplus of $50,000. It was one of nine banks in the county. One other bank remains in Campbell. The officers are N. M. Rice, president; O. H. Hall, vice president and T. A Wood, Jr., cashier.

Jefferson City, November 19.—The State Bank of Naylor, at Naylor, in Ripley County, was closed today by its board of directors. The bank had $74,508 in loan, $15,000 capital stock and $44,145 deposits.

JUDGE FINDS STILL ON FARM RECENTLY PURCHASED

Parma, November 19.—County Judge R. W. Baskin recently bought a farm near here at a tax sale, and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Geo. Carlisle he went to look over the purchase.

The net result of the visit was the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. George Keys on a charge of operating a still and and having possession of 6½ gallons of whisky. Keys and his wife were released after agreeing to pay the costs, and 'Dutch" Gullett, Grover Kennet and Wm. Hull signed as security.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

This is to notify our correspondents who send us carbon copies of news stories, that the practice is O. K. here but, and here's the catch to this: Please use better carbon paper, or thinner copy paper. What you write may be perfectly clear to you, but a o, e and c, look pretty much alike when the typewriter key makes one opaque blot. And we're still in good humor at that.

Longhand copy should be more carefully written. What you write must be read before it can be printed. Write only one ONE SIDE of paper. That is an elementary rule insisted upon by every newspaper office. One might make other suggestions, but these will do much to improve the correctness of articles intended for publication.

The Woman's Club will hold their next regular meeting with Mrs. Gid Daniels, Tuesday afternoon.

CATTLE THIEVES THRU REVENGE ABDUCT GIRL

New Madrid, November 18.—Search is being made of the woods on an island about two miles north of New Madrid for George and Dallas Gladjo, and Virginia Sickles, 12-year-old girl, whom they abducted from the tent home of her parents on the island Saturday night.

The girl's father, George Sickles, and the Gladjo brothers were partners in stealing cattle across the river from Alfred Stepp and S. A. Berryman. After killing the cattle they sold the meat in New Madrid. Sickles was arrested and confessed and also implicated the other two men, who, seeking revenge went to the tent where the Sickles lived, beat Mrs. Sickles, mother of six children, until she was severely bruised, and then took the 12-year-old daughter and departed.

The mother made her way to New Madrid and summoned help and she and the five children, ranging from 3 to 10 years, were brought here, where they were allowed to sleep in the courthouse and were furnished food by the County.

Because of the thick growth of willows and underbrush search for the men and girl has proven futile so far. Both men are married. Geo. has been married three times, each time to a 12-year-old girl. Search will be continued until the men are found. Because the family was suffering and without food or clothing, Sickles was released from jail, and charges were withdrawn by the plaintiffs.

BAPTIST REVIVAL GETS UNDER WAY

Rev. A. C. Rudloff, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city is being assisted in a revival campaign by the Rev. W. G. Winans, Little Rock, Ark., evangelist who conducted a successful campaign here three years ago, at which time there were about eighty additions to the membership of that church.

Evangelist Winans is directing the music of the revival as well as doing the preaching. Three choirs, assisted by two pianos and an orchestra make the song services a real attraction to those who enjoy gospel music and singing. A unique feature of the services is the junior choir in the balcony. "Alright now, let's hear the Heavenly Choir sing that chorus" the evangelist anounces and the fifty or more boys and girls will make the auditorium ring as they take up the song.

Much interest has been shown in the campaign from the first service last Sunday morning. Crowds have grown with each service this week and the full program of the evangelistic party will be launched next Tuesday, whne all-day meetings will begin. Morning services will be conducted at ten o'clock, cottage prayer meetings at 2:30 p. m. and the store meetings for men will be held at the same hour, 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Winans will meet with the junior boys and girls in a song rehearsal at 4 o'clock each afternoon next week, beginning Tuesday. Senior young people's inspirational services will be held each evening in the basement of the church at 7 o'clock and a prayer meeting for men will be conducted at the same hour. Evening services begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. 'Midnight in America" is the evangelists subject announced for Friday night and "Sister Lot Breaks into Society" is the subject for Saturday night. The subjects for Sunday are as follows: 11 a. m.—"Warning by the Devil's Fire"; 3:00—"The Inconsistency of the Pulpit and the Cruelty of the Pew"; 7:30—"The Antichrist". "The Big Dance' is the evangelist's subject for next Monday night.

We have never heard a single individual endorse the return of the saloon, but we have heard many condemn national prohibition and doubt if it could ever be enforced. Most local cases where arrests have been made of violations of the prohibition laws, small fines have been assessed, which meant little to the offender. Sympathy with the booze fighter and out of sympathy with prohibition enforcement have made the law considerable of a joke. In Canada if a man is caught violating their liquor law, all the money in the treasury would not keep him from serving a jail term. If our law enforcement officers would give 30 days on the street gang for a man under the influence of liquor, and make him work, fewer of them would come to our city. Then if the fellow who drives a car when drunk could be sent to the asylum for a couple of years or hit fifty licks with a black snake whip, maybe he wouldn't do it the second time. It looks as though those who favor the prohibition law fail to be an officer who could or would deliver the right kind of punishment. We favor repeal or modification, and will vote for any man who runs for Congress two years hence on that ticket.

The Standard heartily endorses the move to decorate and light up the business section of Sikeston during the month of December in order to show the public that we are a real live City. In addition to lighting, let us suggest all windows be decorated with lights and Christmas things. The Standard proposes to wash its windows in order to take away the summer decorations put on by the flies, and instead place colored lights. If the city is properly lighted and decorated many will drive in from surrounding communities to feast their eyes and do window shopping. If it is business our merchants are after, it might not be a bad idea to keep stores open for an hour or two after supper during part of the time. Every merchant and professional man should help on this decorating scheme in order to put us in the light for one Christmas.

AS I SEE IT

By I'm About Town

The writer at Kennett, who has doped it all out that K. H. S. has the mythical Southeast Missouri championship cinched this year, hands us a big laugh.

A similar situation in 1915 has been brought to our attention. Sikeston was to play Shelbina high for the championship of Missouri in a post-season game. Kennett horned in for a playoff with Sikeston. The challenge was accepted.

After the score reached 100, the last two quarters were cut short ten minutes each, holding the final count down to 147 to a big goose egg.

Of course, we are making no insinuations about the present status of the two teams, but "proving" anything by "dope" always reminds us of an incident which occurred in a logic class under Dr. Hudson at the University.

A fresh young thing offered the suggestion one afternoon that he had a new sylogism. "What is it?" quoth the Doctor. "Fishes swim. I swim, therefore I am a fish", answered the f. y. t.

A pause. Then said Dr. Hudson with just a faint trace of a smile: "Right you are, but that's is not the way you prove it".

It is unofficially reported that Dago Albright "put in" the day Tuesday working.

Our friend, Charles C. Pinnell, Class of '28, has gone forth in the world to seek fame and fortune along electrical lines. He will invade, and, we, hope, conquer the intricities of electrical engineering in one of a number of such schools near Los Angeles. At least, Charles should be able to get all the necessary vitimes D in that Sunshine State orange juice.

After three months of it, we'll wager, he'd trade a whole orange grove for one Missouri Starks' Delicious apple.

The knowledge of the world rests upon my shoulders, said our local truckman as he shifted a set of encyclopedia to a more comfortable position.

Mista Ed in the Cairo Evening Citizen, and the "Barbs" editor of the Cape Missourian, please note above.

Joe Savoldi, star back of the Notre Dame football team, has been allowed to "retire" from that institution. Joe made the mistake of getting married. Joe might think they done him wrong, but the major part of his education is still ahead.

We wonder what bright crack the Arkansas Gazette will have reprinted in the Literary Digest now that thirty banks in its territory have closed their doors.

A writer to the New York Sun suggests Roy Chapman Andrews as leader of the G. O. P. in '32, or sooner. Roy has been known to reconstruct an elephant starting out with nothing but the jawbone.

MORRISON FAMILY ENJOYS TRIP TO EAST TO NEW WORK IN NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

November 16, 1930.

C. L. Blanton, Sr.,
Sikeston, Mo.,
Dear Mr. Blanton:

The days have flown so swiftly it is hard to realize the lack of attention given my personal correspondence. Please pardon the seeming negligence.

The drive thru, 1127 miles from Sikeston to the center of Newark, N J., was delightful, altho' devoid of anything unusual. Leaving Thursday morning, we clipped along thru Illinois and into Indiana, reaching Greenfield, home of the Hoosier poet, about 6 p. m. Leaving there the next morning at 7:00 a. m., I was somewhat chagrinned later in the day to learn that we had lost an hour by not taking into consideration Eastern Standard Time! Driving this day through the rest of Indiana and Ohio, we stopped at Monongahela, Penn., in a blinding sleet storm. Contrary to our thought that we were in for a hard, cold trip from there on, this storm was localized and we outrode the effects thereof during our first hour the following morning. This day's drive through the ever changing country of Pennsylvania and New Jersey was exciting. Some of the grades were steep and it was seldom anyone was slow enough to get in your way! After hitting the N. J. line, I believe it is customary to add five miles per hour to whatever speed you may have been making previously!

Newark is surrounded by numerous smaller outlying towns and as no street (exceptions, of course) runs straight for over four blocks, it is mighty easy to get off the trail. We did, losing thirty minutes finding ourselves, winding up at our destination at about 8:00 p. m., Saturday.

Our furniture arrived in good shape and we are now comfortably located The apartment is in a clean new section, four miles from the office and facing a park. It takes me about 25 minutes to and from the office.

My work is supervision of the Foreclosed Property Section, Farm Properites, the duties being, briefly, as follows: Decision as to whether certain loans are to be carried on a collection basis or foreclosed. If on collection basis, the terms under which we will grant extension. When properties come into the Company, my section sees that they are promptly inspected, listed for sale at a certain price, and, if necessary, improved The rental, collection of rents and expenditures in connection with these properites and all sales propositions have the attention of my section, subject to my approval. Except in those cases where it is necessary for higher authority, my approval is accepted as final.

All of this work is familiar to me from actual field experience and I feel confident of my ability to "carry on" and after I become more familiar with the company's methods to be of added benefit to it. While the work at the office has been pleasant and everyone there most cordial, we are somewhat lonesome for a word from home, and this brings me to a very urgent question:

"How about forward The Sikeston Standard to us?"

We always looked forward to its receipt while in St. Louis and now that we are this far away, it will be doubly dear.

With warmest personal regards to yourself and yours, I am,

Cordialy yours,
HOWARD E. MORRISON.

MONEY COMING IN EVERY WEEK FOR WORKING PEOPLE'S CHURCH

Every week since we have been asking for donations, money has been coming in for the new Sikeston church for working people.

Among the number who have contributed since last report, are: Brown Jewell, Constable; Sarsar's Store, McKnight-Keaton Wholesale Grocery Co., L. P. Gober of Vanduser, at one time Sheriff of Scott County; Marion Jewell, coal dealer; Sterling's Store, $10; a St. Louis Clothing Company.

Every cent of money to build this church building is coming from Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Catholics, Christians and Jews. The Methodists are leading in donations, the Jews next, while the others are not far behind. Three Catholics have already contributed and others have promised offerings.

Elder John B. Huffman, who has charge of many churches all over the United States, is raising money to erect this church, being a little different from all of his other churches, over which he is Supervisor or Chairman, because he realizes that nearly one-half of the people do not attend services anywhere and by erecting an edifice where the people will be invited to come in their overalls and house dresses, if they want to, or in their finest apparel, either, and where no creeds and doctrines will be preached, we have been assured by people in various towns that they would attend services at this kind of a church. Folks from 200 miles away have promised to attend as often as possible.

Elder Huffman will not receive any salary as pastor—just free will offerings, and he is spending his own money in stamps and stationery in writing scores of letters over the United States in behalf of this new edifice.

When I was in the newspaper business, I gave printing and money to every denomination asking for it in Sikeston at that time. Was for years a member of the Methodist church. Nearly forty years ago, before the flour mills were erected in Sikeston or about the time, the writer, then a school boy, helped out the Baptist church, which at that time had a real struggle for existence, because there were just a few women and a smaller number of men connected with it, by being janitor of the church for a period of months free of charge. The bell was situated on four posts, which were very rickety and sometimes the rope would get caught at the top of this improvised belfry and the writer had to climb to the top of it many times and unloosen the rope. During one Christmas tree occasion, they gave a small offering and a necktie for my services, and a tramp printer, (was apprentice in a printing office after school) stole the necktie. But I was glad to help the Baptists all I could and willing to render assistance to any worthy cause. The town was very small those days.

Elder Huffman has been in the Church of God for 18 years, First Corinthians, 1:2; Second Corinthians 1:1; Acts, 20:23; First Corinthians, 10:32; 11:16, 15:9, Galatians, 1:13; First Timothy, 3:5. We also do not have any church books, our church book being the Lamb's Book of Life. We use only the Bible, the whole Bible and preach and teach and believe all of it—this os our only discipline and guide book.

But it is none of our business what denomination you belong to, nor what your plan of worship or church government may be. You have a right under the Constitution of the United States to our own way of worship. If it suits you, it ought to suit everyone else, and it is none of anybody's business. It is the life you live, the pure and holy in heart who shall see God. Placing a certain label on a church building doesn't change your life. A sign reading, "Sugar", on a vinegar pail does not turn the sour to sweet. A sign, "harmless" upon the most deadly reptile would not keep him from biting you. A sign, "Honest Man" on a crook's back does not keep him from stealing and swindling. If one should place a pig in the White House and call him an angel from heaven, he would be a pig just the same. A sign, "Christian", on a notorious sinner, does not change up his life.

One must be born again and live a life that satisfies Jesus, and live it every day to become a Christian. I am not your judge. We have friends in every denomination and I invite one and all to our services when the church building is constructed.

Will thank one and all for a donation on the new church building. Send your donation to Elder John B. Huffman, Box 476, Sikeston. Every cent is deposited in bank and will be used for paying for church building and equipment. Thank you for your offering.—John Huffman

HORSE THIEF GETS 5-YEAR PRISON TERM

New Madrid, November 18.—Calvin Hill, of Parma, plead guilty Saturday afternoon to stealing a horse, and was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. J. R. Bennett of Risco, had ridden the horse to church and left it tied in front of the church and while he was attending services, Hill stole the animal and rode it to Sikeston, where he attempted to sell it to Brown Jewell, who becoming suspicious, discovered that he had stolen it.

W. S. Adcock of Portageville was arrested and placed in jail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons while intoxicated. He will be given a preliminary hearing this week.

Dan Brown, Cairo negro, was caught stealing corn from P. B. Wathen's field near New Madrid Saturday and was arrested and is awaiting a preliminary hearing in the County jail.

STERLING STORE BREAKS DRAB MONOTONY WITH CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

Manager Jim Hudgins has enjoyed the services of a whole flock of Santa's workers, if the present appearance of the largest store in Sikeston is any indication. From end to end the Variety Store bespeaks Christmas cheer, in decorations, and in the number and kind of merchandise displayed in show cases and in counters.

A "pre-season" showing of toys and gifts is something new for Sikestonians. Everyone knows the pleasure of shopping around in advance of the regular season, choosing gifts and making plans to have Santa deliver certain toys.

DRY WEATHER STILL PREVAILS IN MADISON

L. C. Lear, manager of the local Western Union Telegraph Company reports that the drought has not been broken in the vicinity of his home, Madison, Mo., where he visited last week-end. Wells and cisterns are either dry or very low, and strict regulations prevail governing the use of city water. Garages are forbidden to take car wash jobs, according to Mr. Lear, who brings the report that the community has suffered a drought of nearly six months duration. Madison is near Moberly.

RAILROADS HAUL RED CROSS MATERIAL FREE OF CHARGE

W. T. Malone, Frisco agent here, has been notified by the division superintendent that beginning October 20 and continuing for a period of 45 days, the Railroad Company would transport free of charge, clothing to drought stricken areas. The message to Malone:

"As information, in response to the application of the American Red Cross fir free transportation of clothing to the drought stricken area, we have authorized for a period of 45 days, from October 20, free transportation of such donated clothing shipments to be received by the Red Cross at St. Louis, and forwarded by them to destinations. These shipments will not be transported free unless donated."

My Friends: Correct Your Eating Faults and Lose Your Fat With Kruschen Salts

Yes: I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle that I bought for 85c at White's Drug Store, to liven me up—put ambition and energy into me—makes me feel years younger and with the help of a change in diet shows me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Cut out pastries and desserts—go easy on potatoes, cream, cheese, and butter—eat lean meat, chicken, fish, vegetables and fruits and never fail to take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the World sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.

DID you ever know that Health is sold by the bottle? Well it is---right from our Dairy in the form of rich, milk and cream. This is the food that brings roses into kiddies' cheeks, and their elders', too. A milk card is your ticket to Healthville.

Monday and Tuesday were such beautiful days that we thought we would write a paragraph on the "Beauties of Nature" for the Friday issue of The Standard, but after sleeping over a couple of nights, we have concluded it might be misunderstood at home and in some other households, as long as the flowers have been laid low by Jack Frost and the only other Beauties of Nature that we could think about, women, might be difficult to explain away. Then, again, Thursday morning opened up cold and drizzly that would take the beauty thoughts from a beauty specialist.

We hasten to apologize for the typographical error which made a "plumping" shop out of L. T. Davey's plumbing establishment in a small advertisement stating that the T. E. L. Class will conduct a bake sale there Tuesday, November 25. When one keeps in mind the fact that fine cookery will be on sale "plump" might not be such a bad expression in this connection after all.

The Marquis of Winchester has $1500 says a news story, and owes $2,400,000. The Marquis is, then, no better off in some respects than most of us. However, he has this advantage. He has a wine cellar in which he can become rosy cheeked and forgetful.

Tuesday and Wednesday were all that one could ask within reason of the Gods who make the weather. Warm almost to discomfort, and clear. But then the heavens lowered and a grey, forbidding mist decends. It is very depressing, just when Al Daily had almost made up his mind to advertise spring garden seed.

BULLDOG GRIDDERS WILL PLAY FOUR HOME, FIVE AWAY GAMES NEXT YEAR

A complete football schedule for next season has been completed and is announced today by Coach M. C. Cunningham. The program will include Morley, Dexter, Chaffee and Charleston on the Sikeston gridiron, and Caruthersville, Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Doniphan and Cairo, Ill., on foreign fields.

The complete schedule follows:
SEPTEMBER—
25—Morley, here.
OCTOBER—
1 or 2—Caruthersville, there.
9—Charleston, there.
16—Dexter, here.
23—Poplar Bluff, there.
30—Chaffee, here.
NOVEMBER—
6—Doniphan, there.
14—Cairo, there.
26—Charleston, here.

At the present time, however, the Turkey Day classic at Charleston is more important to the Coach, team and fans alike, than the 1931 schedule.

The team was given a complete rest Monday afternoon after their strenuous battle with Cairo last Saturday, but the rest of the week has seen no let-up in either scrimmage or skull practice sessions. Scrimmage after school until six o'clock, and blackboard talks from seven until eight has been the order of things.

John Harris Marshall, brains of the Bluejay gridders who will entertain Sikeston on their home grid in the classic, was present Saturday and watched the Bulldogs battle the Cairoites to a scoreless deadlock.

Coach Marshall had most of his proteges here also watching the pile-driving attack of Cox, and the bullet-like passes from our Mr. Bennett. After watching Charleston watch Cox and Bennett, our guess is that those two worthies will have their hands full evading guards, tackles and the entire secondary defense. Cox has been the big surprise all season. Following the illness of Humphreys, which has kept him out of active competition nearly all season, Cox came to the front and in more recent battles has borne the brunt of offensive work. Captain Billie Fox is on the hospital list this week, which places still more of the ball-lugging responsibility on Cox and Bennett.

COURT INSISTS THAT TEACHER CAN "DATE" PUPIL

Aledo, Ill., November 19.—It is all right for a high school teacher to "date" a pupil, a jury in Mercer County Court decided Tuesday.

Miss Ella DeWeiller, 22, sued the board of education for $400 in back salary, charging she was dismissed last December because she had kept an engagement with one of her pupils.

Don't forget the primary bake sale at The Bijou Saturday.

Grant Harris, out of Charlie Cramer's restaurant at Osceola, Ark., was a visitor in Sikeston the first of the week. He formerly lived in this city.

The ladies of the Catholic church will entertain Tuesday evening, November 25 at the Hotel Marshall with a pinochle and bridge party. An admission charge of 50c will be made

WILL APPOINT CORONER OF MADRID COUNTY SOON

New Madrid, November 19.—Gov. Henry S. Caulfield is expected to announce the appointment shortly of a coroner of New Madrid County to succeed D. A. Childs of Matthews who died recently. So far as could be ascertained no endorsements have been voted.

THANKSGIVING and what it means.....turkey and cranberry sauce. Or perhaps an extra helping of roast beef and corn bread in other surroundings. It might even be the occasion of a rare square meal in some homes which seldom if ever know the joys of sniffing a roast duck or gobbler browning under his coat of rich dressing and sauce. Even in the humblest homes, however, the occasion no matter what the menu should inspire thanks to God for life and health, a measure of happiness, good homes and shelter and whatever bread and meat is daily set before us.

SIKESTON BASKETBALL TEAMS OPEN SEASON AT FREDERICKTOWN

Even though everything now points to the final appearance of the Bulldog grid team in the annual Turkey Day classic with Charleston, the major winter sport, basketball, is not being neglected.

The schedule which includes 11 games exclusive of tournaments, will present the locals in six home contests. The season opens December 12 with Fredericktown at Fredericktown.

In addition to the annual boys' and girls' tourneys here, the Sikeston squads will appear in competition with teams in Scott County in the annual Benton classic, and this year the boys will be entered also in the all-Southeast Missouri competition in Cape Girardeau.

Coach Moore has not yet cut the squad to its final figure. At the present eight "old members" are turning out for daily practice. Included in this group are: Imogene Albritton, Ruby York, Ethyl Dunn, Elsie Conrad, Geneva Andres, Jeanette Baker and Childress. Much promising material is available, however, and former stars may have to fight for position before the starting whistle of the first game. Jenalee Sells, Charlene Gardner, Neva Mae Taylor, Marjorie Mow, Carrie Nell Mount, Mary Lou McCoy, Loyette Feltner, Margaret Mitchell, Helen Keith and Mary Young are included in the "tryout" group of would-be players.

Coach Cunningham has his last year's squad practically intact with Daniels, Jones, Whidden, Fox, the Hayden brothers and Cox available. Caverno, Kilgore, Inman, Engram, Bowman, Watson and Limbaugh are among the more promising young sters who are turning out for daily court practice. So far the practice squads number about twenty-five men, exclusive of football men who have not yet reported.

The schedule for this winter and spring follows:
DECEMBER—
12 Fredericktown, there.
18—Poplar Bluff, here.
19—Caruthersville, there.
JANUARY—
9—Fredericktown, here.
16—Charleston, here.
23—Matthews, there.
24—Cairo boys, there.
30—Malden, here.
FEBRUARY—
6—Chaffee, here.
13—Charleston, there.
14—Cairo boys and Benton girls here.
20—Boys' Tournament, here.
27—County Tournament, Benton.
6—Girls' Tournament, here.
6—Boys' tournament, Cape.

IT'S O. K. TO DRINK CITY WATER SAYS STATE HEALTH ENGINEER JOHNSON

Water samples collected on November 13 from city mains tested zero B coli per 100 cubic centimeters, according to a report issued Monday by W. Scott Johnson, chief Public Health Engineer of the Missouri State Board of Health. In other words, Sikeston residents may continue to drink city water with the assurance that the supply is pure.

The standard for safe drinking water is not to exceed an average of one B coli per 100 cubic centimeters (100 cc is about 1 cupful). B coli, a germ present in human and animal intestinal discharges, is used as an index of contamination. Where is is found in excess of the standards, the germs of typhoid, dysentery, colitis, and diarrhoea may at any time be present in quantities sufficient to cause sickness.

The above examination was made in accordance with the standard methods of water analysis of the American Public Health Association, and indicates the quality of the water at the time the sample was collected.

DEFUNCT RAILWAYS PAYS 5 PER CENT AFTER 16 YEARS

Cape Girardeau, November 18.—Although the Cape Girardeau Northern Railroad was placed in receivership 16 years ago, checks in payment of first general claims by creditors are being mailed this week by George W. Cross, receiver.

Five per cent of the claims are now being paid. The total being distributed at this time is $45,736.01. Prior to this payment preferred claims had been settled, amounting to $106,757 There are $175,000 in outstanding receivership certificates. Funds for the current payment were obtained thru sale of a portion of the old road to the Missouri Pacific Line. The original railroad extended from Illmo, Scott County, through Cape Girardeau and Jackson to Perry County.

WALKING FOR FIRST TIME IN NINE MONTHS

Man Has Rheumatism and Other Ailments--Says 'Konjola Was a Godsend To Me"

MR. FREDERICK A. GOODWIN

"Last September I had a slight injury from which rheumatism developed", said Mr. Frederick A. Goodwin, 905 North Street, Joplin. "My nervous system gave way. I lost my appetite and I had a severe case of kidney trouble. I lost fifty pounds in weight. My limbs became useless from the waist down and I suffered agony from intense pains.

"After Konjola was sincerely recommneded I decided to give it a trial. I have only taken four bottles of this great medicine and with the aid of a cane I am walking for the first time in nine months. The pains have left my leg and back, my nerves are settled and I am daily gaining in my strength. I am so enthused about Konjola that I talk about it all the time".

Even though all else tried has failed, don't abandon hope before you give Konjola a chance.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store and by all the best drugists in all towns throughout this entire section.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS FORNFELT HUNTER

Last Saturday, Ed Scherer of Fornfelt and a party of friends went hunting. Scherer carried a 12-gauge automatic shotgun, and Sunday morning cleaned the weapon careful. A thread of an oily rag caught the trigger and a lone shell, overlooked in the magazine, exploded, killing Emelie Mary Scherer, 11, who was washing the breakfast dishes.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death by gunshot wounds at the hands of her father George Dempster, coroner, conducted the investigation.

It is a delicate and dangerous subject to say things for or against a banker, the bank, or banks in general, but at this time with so many banks closing their doors, temporary or permanently, consolidations, etc., it is no time for those who have much or little in a bank to start whisperings that might cause a run that would be embarrassing to the bank and to the depositors. Small banks throughout the agricultural sections who have loaned money to farmers have been unable to realize on all their paper and have had losses to stockholders and depositors. Big city banks who have officers gambling in the stock markets have lost millions to stockholders, but depositors lost nothing. Our local banks are as solid as Gibralter and are doing a strictly banking business on conservative lines. While we are setting on top of the earth in the banking business, other sections are uneasy and bordering onto a panic. We would like to see a law passed that would guarantee depositors against loss should the doors of a bank be closed for any reason whatever. Some States have such a law, and a mighty good one at that. Without our financial institutions business of all kinds would be in a terrible condition.

A woman returning from a Prison Congress in Europe, brings with her the information that Germany has found that quiet and order in penal institutions are promoted when business men and teachers replace army men as prison guards. This seems reasonable. Many outside the bars are still waiting for a chance to choke the World War top sergeant to death.

We are not, we hope, fanatical on the subject of cigarettes, but we fear there is trouble in the future for the numerous small boys who are smoking. It is no uncommon thing to see little fellows six and seven years old, puffing a cigarette as they go to and from school. Teachers report that more and more little boys are smoking. Smoking may not hurt an adult, and probably doesn't to any great extent, but educators and medical men agree that the mentality and morality of children is injured by smoking.—Fredericktown Democrat.

DE PROFOUNDS

Out of the ruck of elections, Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York and Democracy's candidate for the Presidency three years ago, looms, in the opinion of eastern observers, as the outstanding political figure in the United States. Without exception, commentators credit him with Roosevelt's election and ascribe to his personality and force the overwhelming defeat given the Republicans last week.

Added indications of Smith's influence are found in the results of his short incursion into Massachusetts in behalf of Marcus Aurelius Coolidge, Democratic nominee for the senate, who was elected over William Morgan Butler, for whom Calvin Coolidge spoke over the radio. In his every appearance Smith was cheered to the echo, and his addresses were the same logical, hard-hitting appeals to common sense that marked his campaign speeches against Hoover. In Boston, the crowded house roared with laughter when he asked: "Where are all those chickens that were to be in every pot? What became of the automobiles and silk stockings for everybody?"

These facts, coupled with Roosevelt's announcement that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, set Smith forth again as his party's only choice for the nomination in 1932. In his favor are, first, the 15,000,000 votes he received in 1928 and that will stick with him through thick and thin; second, Hoover's failure to measure up; third, the Republican party's inability to better business conditions; fourth, the admitted fact that never again will the Republicans be able to align the forces of bigotry and fanaticism as they did in the last campaign; and, fifth, the steadily increasing insistence that there must be a modification of Prohibition.

With Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and Illinois definitely in the wet column; with California's new governor admittedly the standard bearer of the Wets, and with a gradual weakening of Dry influence generally throughout the United States conservative observers see hope for the release of the American people from the heavy and galling domination of the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance prohibition and Public Morals, and all those other forces of religious persecution which have combined aginst American principles during the past quarter of a century, and which in an evil hour were enabled by His Satanic Majesty to enthrone Prohibition on the pedestal where once Liberty sat.— San Diego Herald.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS IS HIGHLY PROBABLE

Washington, November 18.—An extra session of the newly-elected Congress, starting early next spring and prolonging the inevitable fireworks well into the summer, today looms as a lively possibility, despite all administration efforts to forestall it.

Failure of the present Congress to pass the regular appropriation bills at the short or "lame duck" session which convenes December 1 and expires March 4, would practically compel President Hoover to summon a special session of the new Congress soon afterward. Regardless of assurances of "co-operation" from some Democratic leaders, there are multiplying signs that the bills may not get under the wire.

Statements by progressive leaders and by influential Democratic members convey a warning today that the supply bills may be blocked unless the administration withdraws its opposition to certain measures. These include the Norris bill for Government operation of Muscle Shoals, the Norris amendment to abolish 'lame duck' sessions, the Wagner unemployment bills, the Senate anti-injunction bill and other important legislative proposals.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, leader of the Republican Progressives, is generally believed to hold the key to the situation. Speaking over long-distance telephone from Lincoln Neb., last night, he told the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he believed there should be prompt action on all the foregoing measures, and that if the administration persisted in blocking their consideration at the short session, it would have to take the responsibility for precipitating a special session.

Earlier in the day Senators Walsh of Montana, Democrat, and Borah of Idaho, Republican Progressive, although denying any intention to filibuster, expressed a doubt as to whether there would be sufficient time in the short session to give proper consideration to all the measures which they believe should be considered. In that event, they point out, a special session might become unavoidable. Borah remarking that "with the country in its present condition, there would be no excuse for Congress wasting six perfectly good months before taking action to relieve the situation".

To the list of measures enumerated by Norris as requiring prompt action, Senator Walsh added on his own account the protocol of adherence to the World Court, and the Couzens bill providing for Federal regulation of interstate motorbus rates.

Walsh declared that the debenture plan should be adopted as soon as possible, but he saw no hope for it in the short session, since it must originate in the House, and during the short session the House will remain under old guard Republican control.

In view of all the time that would be required to discuss that vote upon the foregoing measures, Walsh said it hardly seemed possible to complete the task before March 4, and since most of them will come up, in the Senate at least, before the appropriation bills, he concluded that a special session was likely.

Borah, reiterating his previous declaration that he did not intend to be "stampeded" into voting for any legislation during the coming session without "orderly and proper consideration", added that the unemployment situation demanded immediate action on the part of Congress. He said that while he would support the Wagner measures, he is convinced the present condition requires emergency legislation.

To all these thinly veiled warnings from progressive sources, was added another from one of the administration leaders in the Senate. McNary of Oregon, the Republican whip, who previously had announced his determination to press for immediate action on the Muscle Shoals bill, yesterday took steps to call a conference of farm leaders for next Monday, for the purpose of discussing possible relief legislation at the coming session

Senator Robinson of Arkansas Democratic leader in the Senate, one of the seven prominent Democrats who signed the offer to "co-operate" with the administration during the coming session, has not returned to Washington. President Hover last week stated that he had received certain "assurances" from Robinson but the White Hiuse still declines to make Robinson's letter public, altho' he has stated he would be glad to have Robinson to do so. Courtesy and usage prevents Robinson from disclosing what he wrote to the President.

Street Accidents Take Thousands of Child Lives

RAY LYMAN WILBUR
Secretary of the Interior

Estimate Based Upon Accident Statistics, Says Secretary Wilbur

Washington, D. C.—If history repeats itself, many thousands of children will be killed or maimed by automobiles within the next twelve months in the United States.

This statement, according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, is based upon the accident statistics of past years.

"When I was a boy," said Secretary Wilbur, "the only thing we feared out in the open country, was a rattlesnake. But the rattlesnake is a domestic pet compared with the automobile. Rattlesnakes may kill a few thousand persons a year in this country, but automobiles kill thousands of children alone, because our safety precautions are not as modern as our mode of travel.

"Worst of all, the automobile is only one of the many new modern dangers to which our children are exposed.

"Members of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection which will meet in Washington November 19-22 at the call of President Hoover, have been working for the past year upon the problems of childhood.

"All they have discovered—that is, every bit of scientific knowledge relative to children now in existence in the field of medical service, public health, education and training—will later be at the service of what the President has rightly called the 'deeply concerned parents' of this country."

More than 1,100 experts from every field will gather at the Red Cross and D. A. R. buildings in Washington for the Conference. Secretary Wilbur, as chairman, will make the closing address. The Secretary has served both the American Medical Association and Stanford University as president.

YOUNG ATTORNEY STILL OUT OF JOB ALTHOUGH ELECTED BY PEOPLE

Chaffee, November 20.—An attempt to arbitrate the controversy involving the office of city attorney here failed at a meeting of the City Council Wednesday night. The Council did not seat W. L. Oliver, who was elected city attorney last April, and Oliver said he will bring mandamus proceedings to compel the city to seat him in office with compensation for the entire term.

Oliver defeated E. M. Munger in the election for the office, but owing to a city ordinance a year's residence in the city was required to hold office, and the City Council refused to seat Oliver on the grounds that he was not qualified. He moved to Chaffee in September, as did his opponent.

Action for salary was later instituted by Oliver and was taken on a change of venue from Scott County to New Madrid County. Later the suit was dismissed by Oliver in order to bring mandamus proceedings. It was thought that an agreement could be arranged at the meeting Wednesday night and thus avoid further litigation.

The city has retained Munger as attorney during the present difficulty.

ANNOUNCEMENT ENGAGEMENT OF MISS MARGARET MOORE, PROMINENT CHARLESTONIAN

Charleston, November 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Moore of this city this week announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Stpehens Moore to Mr. James Dent Thurmond. The ceremony will take place at high noon, Saturday, November 22, at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, with Rev L. R. Jenkins, pastor of Scruggs Memorial Church of that city, officiating.

Miss Moore will be given in marriage by her father, Col. Paul B. Moore, and her only attendant will be her sister, Miss Joella Moore, who will serve as maid of honor.

Mr. Thurmond will be attended by Lon Stephens Moore, the bride's brother, as best man, and Paul Handy Moore as groomsman. Only relatives and a few intimate friends will witnessing the ceremoney, following which a wedding luncheon will be served the bridal party and guests.

Miss Moore is a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in the State. Her father is one of the most prominent business men and one of the largest land owners in Southeast Missouri. She is a neice of the late Gov. Lon D. Stephens of St Louis. She attended grade school in Charleston, after which she spent one year at Lennox Hall, St. Louis. Then following her graduation from National Park Seminary at Washington, D. C., she traveled extensively with her family in European countries, Central and South America and the West Indies.

Mr. Thurmond is a native of Georgia. Upon completing his high school course, he entered Georgia Tech, graduating as a Civil Engineer in 1924.

He joined the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and after two years' service, was stationed for a two-year professional Mission in the Philippine Islands, and afterward in China and Japan.

The bride and groom will travel for three weeks, visiting the groom's parents and relatives. They will travel along the Gulf Coast to New Orleans and other Southern cities before taking up their temporary residence in Texas.

GALLOWAY'S INSTALL NEW LUNCHEONETTE FOUNTAIN

Installation work on a new 16-foot luncheonete soda fountain with self contained refrigeration unit, sandwich compartment, and all modern appointments was completed Thursday evening for Galloway's drug store.

About fifteen months ago, young Galloway came to Sikeston and purchased the Hess Drug Store, located on the corner of Center and New Madrid Streets. Changes were made in the general layout of the store, and within a short time, an ordinary 12 foot fountain was installed. Last year other changes were made in the new establishment, notably an enlargement of quarters to include the adjoining store room.

The corner location modernized by up-to-date business practices, and by a consistent advertising program have had their effect. The first small fountain had to be replaced, this time by the latest, modern equipment.

The fountain is finished in glazed terra cotta, with black luncheonette counter, white porcelain and nickle Twelve individual chairs in green leather and wicker work are provided.

A delegation of Sikeston patrons of the store observed Wednesday evening while workmen were installing the fountain that "dress suits might be looked for as the next requirement for service at the new, ritzy fountain.

STACCATO CLICKS OF MORSE FADE AS SIMPLEX MACHINES ASSUME THEIR DUTY

At exactly 8:30 Thursday morning October 16, a ribbon tape crawled out of the slit at the side of the new Simplex Telegraph machines in the local Western Union office, and silenced the familiar staccato trat! trat! tratatr-r of the Morse sounders amplified possibly by a tin tobacco can wedged securely in the sounding box.

A slight hum and the steady tap, tap as of typewriter keys, and the ribbon appeared with its message for the Scott County Milling Company.

The change to automatic telegraphy has been so sudden that 82 per cent of the wire traffic is now handled by Simplex and Mulitplex. A similar revolution in another industry might have thrown thousands out of employment, but the compensations of healthy growth saved the Morsemen whose educated fingers kept pace with the throbbing or waning pulse of this industrial nation in years past.

Much of the magic, the mystery and the glamor of the old days has faded with this tiny box which spits out ribbons of information at the gentle touch of typewriter keys. The old days are recalled, when operators sat knowingly before their keys and translated intelligible words into meaningless dots and dashes, or smoked with supreme nonchalance as they retranslated a constant buzz of clicks and beats into English characters.

In a majority of instances, the operator of the Simplex printers are young women. The operator sits before this super-typewriter, which has eveything but its keyboard housed in a glass and metal jacket, and taps out a word on the keys. Letter by letter the electric impulses of that word slip out over the wire to a distant city, setting up impulses in another super-typewriter at that end in such a manner that the corresponding typebars are pulled down and the message is typewritten on the dry side of a gummed paper tape. Another girl seated before the super-typewriter at the distant end picks up the tape as it flows from the machine and with the aid of a small gumming instrument, glues it rapidly to a telegraph or cable message blank after which the message is ready for delivery.

The girl may be typewriting over a distance of several hundred miles It is as if the keys she depressed were attached to typebars several hundred miles long, each typebar registering on the distant tape practically instantaneously despite the great distance. As she types the message which is recorded by the distant machine, the same message likewise is printed on a paper tape emerging from her own machine, so that the sending office has a perfect record of what has been transmitted. When the distant office wishes to send, the home operator merely stops typewriting and the original process is reversed.

Theoretically there is no limit to the distance over which this novel form of long distance typewriting can be operated. Actually, the only limitations are those imposed by traffic conditions. For practical consideration the Simplex printers are installed only between cities whose volume of telegraph traffic is such as is best adapted to the Simplex Printer Service. And for this reason, it is coming into wide use in the financial district of New York, where great banking institutions need to be on quick and constant communication with the central telegraph office. Some 2000 Simplex printers are now in use in various parts of the Western Union system, and it is expected that during the next four years this number will be increased to approximately 10,000.

Whereas only two channels are possible with Morse, that is one message each way at thirty words per minute, Simplex sends messages on eight channels, each at sixty words per minute. On machines developed to a state of still greater perfection there are fourteen channels in each direction. Twenty-eight messages on a pair of wires!

Metropolitan newspapers make use of Simplex telegraphy in still another manner. Machines similar to those installed here, tap out at regular hours during the day, the news of the world. The only practical difference lies in the fact that the message comes typed on an endless roll of paper usually as wide as a regulation letterhead, instead of being printed on a narrow tape.

Spokane, Wash., health authorities estimate that from an inch to an inch and a half of dust settles yearly in homes on unpaved streets.

Soaking a slice of very salty ham in buttermilk or sour milk seems to make it more tender when cooked, as well as to take out some of the salt.

One New York firm, which imports pyrethrum flowers, used in insecticides, also raises flies so as to have insects always on hand for testing the efficacy of the imported stock.

Whipped cream dressings is especially good with cabbage salad, but it may be used for any salad you like. To make it, beat half a pint of heavy whipping cream until stiff, add four and one-half tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons fresh grated horseradish, a grating of onion, a few drops of tabasco, and salt to taste. A dash of cayene pepper may be used instead of tabasco. If the horseradish is in vinegar use only 2 tablespoons of lemon.

N. A. JOHNSON DIES IN LITTLETON, COLORADO

A message was received Wednesday notifying relatives that N. A. Johnson of Littleton, Colo., had passed away last Tuesday, November 18 at 9 o'clock. He was 69 years old.

He leaves besides his wife, one brother, Charles Johnson and a nephew, James Johnson, both of this city, three sisters, Mrs. Mary Richards of Oran and two of Cairo.

Mr. Johnson was formerly a resident of Sikeston, moving to Littleton Colo., fourteen years ago. For the past two years he had been ill with cancer. Services and interment were in the Colorado city.

FIVE CARS INVOLVED IN SINGLE AUTO WRECK

One truck left the highway south of New Madrid Tuesday afternoon with the result that four brand new Chevrolet cars being transported to points north of Sikeston, were damaged. The driver of one of a fleet of five auto truck-trailers, each carrying four new cars, wrecked his carryal and catapulted the four new machines into a ditch.

Two of the huge truck-trailers came through Sikeston about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and continued their journey east and north.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES TO ASSIST RED CROSS IN COLLECTING CLOTHING FOR NEEDY

According to a plan advanced this week by C. E. Brenton, Chairman of the Scott County Red Cross, Sikeston churches through Missionary Societies will collect and assist in distribution of clothing to needy families and individuals this winter. This phase of relief work will be superintended by Earl Malone, who heads the church mission groups as chairman.

An organization will be perfected and a date set for bringing clothing, shoes and other articles to a central point possibly within two weeks.

A national radio program received locally through the Louisville, Ky. station broadcast an appeal dedicated to all benvolent associations similar to the local appeal. Everyone is asked to go through the attic, trunk, clothes chests and donate whatever can be spared. It will be needed.

All kinds of winter clothing, underwear, shirts, dresses, shoes, caps etc., will be much in demand as soon as cold weather comes. The present appeal comes to you to make that extra effort to spare some garment so that when the appeal comes to the local Red Cross office, it can be heeded.

FORMER SIKESTONIAN SUCCUMBS IN JOPLIN

Loundes D. Randol, formerly district manager of the Southeast Missouri Bell Telephone Company with offices here, and more recently connected in a similar capacity in Joplin, Mo., died Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Randol had been ill for some time with pernicious anemia but had not been kept from his work until last Sunday.

The late Mr. Randol was promoted two years ago to a better position in the district office at Cape Girardeau, the family moving from Sikeston to that city. In December, 1929, he was transferred to Joplin.

Funeral services were conducted in the Joplin Methodist church Thursday afternoon, after which the body was sent to Sikeston. It will lie in state at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Welter. Services will be conducted in the local Methodist church Sunday afternoon, with interment in the Sikeston City Cemetery. Dempster will be in charge.

Surviving are his wife, and three daughters, Cornelia and Virginia Randol, of Joplin and Mrs. Arnold Stone of Buffalo, New York.

Mr. Randol is the son of the late R. D. "Bob" Randol and wife, and was born in the old family homestead which was wrecked some years ago. The Del Rey building now occupies the site.

Misses Ruby Evans and Clara Lindley returned from St. Louis Thursday morning.

Mrs. Charles McMullin returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit to Cape Girardeau.

C. D. Mathews, Jr., returned Wednesday night from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended a convention of National Highway Commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Marshall of Caruthersville spent Sunday afternoon in Sikeston as the guests of Mrs. Florence Marshal anld Miss Kate Austin.

Mesdames Betty Matthews, Laura Smith, A. J. Moore, Kate Harris, C. L. Blanton, Sr., and Miss Susanna Corrigan drove to Dexter Thursday to attend a quilt demonstration.

In selecting your Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey look for the tag that indicates U. S. Government graded birds. "Prime", "choice", and "mediums" are the usual grades shown by a small round tag attached to the leg.

Roast a young turkey on a rack in an open pan without adding water. When the outside has been lightly browned in a hot oven reduce the temperature to moderate and continue to cook a 10-pound to 12 pound turkey for about two and a half hours longer. A mature bird requires an hour or more longer than a young one and it needs to be covered part of the time.

In treating grease spots with cleaning fluids, place a clean pad under the material to be cleaned, a white blotter on top of that, and the garment with the right side next to the blotter. Work lightly from the outside of the spot toward the center, and spread the moisture unevenly into the surrounding goods. "Feathering" out the liquid into the fabric helps to prevent a ring from forming.

Oak Gains Popularity

NEW fashions in furniture and woodwork are sometimes just as pronounced as the style trends in gowns and millinery! The use of oak in the home, for example, is now becoming more and more popular. Not in the golden finishes of the gay nineties, to be sure—but in the rich dark brown tones. There seems to be much frank sturdiness and sincerity in oak. It's said that in classical times this tree was the emblem of hospitality.

The English styles of furniture in oak are extremely popular now, and good reproductions of the Jacobean and Elizabethan period as well as the simpler Georgian examples may be had at moderate prices. In the warmer sections of this country, the Spanish and Italian designs in oak are especially well liked.

A real test of a woman's ingenuity and good taste comes when she tries to group different periods together harmoniously in her rooms. This ensemble plan is now the most approved method of interior decorating—but it requires an intelligent appreciation of wood finishes and designs. A room background of oak woodwork provides a very sympathetic setting for a pleasantly mixed collection of furniture.

The woman who is following the fashion of having more oak in her home should have a rather specialized knowledge of how to take care of such furniture and woodwork. For oak is one of the open-grain woods, and it is thus especially apt to absorb dust and grime in its pores unless correctly treated. A coating of liquid wax, allowed to dry a few minutes and then rubbed lightly with a soft cloth will protect the oak from ingrained dirt, and will also give a flatteringly mellow, rich tone to the wood. Then the only cleaning ever necessary is a little liquid wax applied occasionally to loosen the accumulation of surface dirt.

Whenever oak furniture is used—especially if the woodwork of the room is of that wood, or if the walls are paneled in oak—there is a need for enlivening, colorful fabrics. Crewel embroidered linen or satin damask, perhaps in green or red shades, are delightful for draperies. Upholstering materials may be warm hued leathers, or hand blocked linens, cheerful damasks or velvets.

CONDUCT LAST RITES FOR OLIVER HAY, 61, OF CHARLESTON

Charleston, November 18.—Funeral services were held in this city Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Oliver Hay, aged 61 years, who died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ward DeFields, following a few days' illness of pneumonia.

The services which were held at the home of Mrs. DeFields, were conducted by Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Lair Company directed the funeral.

Mr. Hay was born March 26, 1869. He was a resident of Bertrand and was connected with E. Lett in the State Highway work. He is survived by three children, Mrs. Ward De Fields of this city, Miss Justine Hay of St. Louis and Frank Hay of Cairo.

MULES WILL EAT COTTON SEED

Carrollton, Ga.—A negro tenant on the plantation of Col. Sid Holderness here made a discovery his employer says is worth $10,000,000 to Georgia cotton farmers.

Henry Parks discovered that mules liked to eat boiled cottonseed. Henry boils seed for his mules because it "lays the lint" left on them at the gin then adds a pinch of salt.

Col. Holderness estimates the saving to Georgia farmers this year alone would amount to $10,000,000 if they would feed their cottonseed to work animals rather than sell it at the prevailing price of 27c a bushel in order to buy corn at $1.25 a bushel.

VOLSTEAD LAW REPEAL URGED BY JAMES M. BECK

Washington, November 17.—To the plans advanced for prohibition changes today was added a suggestion that the Volstead act be repealed, leaving enforcement of the eighteenth amendment to the States.

This was proposed by Representative James M. Beck (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, who once was Solicitor General of the United States. He said that while repeal of the eighteenth amendment was the ultimate objective any attempt to secure it now would meet such a defeat as to postpone "any practical relief for another generation".

Yet he asserted, offering the recent election results as evidence, any political party which attempted to sidestep prohibition as an issue would be doomed to defeat.

Although the President Law Enforcement Commission does not intend to recommend repeal of the eighteenth amendment, or a national referendum on the question, speculation on the contents of its prohibition report, has not dwelt seriously on the possibility of a plan such as that advanced by the Pennsylvania Representative. In fact, a belief has been spreading here that the principal recommendations of the group will deal with changes to strengthen the existing system.

Another development was a demand by Representative Tinkham (Rep.), Massachusetts, that Attorney-General Mitchell place before a Federal grand jury his charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of violating the corrupt practices.

The Tinkham accusations, repeatedly made, were based on the failure of the Southern Methodist churchman and prohibition leader to report to the House parts of contributions received of his Virginia anti-Smith campaign in 1928. Bishop Cannon is in a hsopital here, suffering from arthritis.

Beck, in setting forth his proposal, expressed belief that the next Congress would be much more closely divided on prohibition than indicated by the election returns. The attempt at Volstead law repeal should be made when Congress meets next year, he said, and if it failed he urged an effort to withhold appropriations for enforcement.

Although holding repeal of the amendment to be the "ultimate objective', the Pennsylvanian attacked as unwise those advocating outright repeal at this time. He said that at least 20 States would quickly block the move.

"Indeed", he said, "if a resolution were now adopted by Congress to submit the question of repeal to the States, the result would be a foregone conclusion and would postpone any practical relief for another generation".

Beck said he could not share the confidence of Dwight W. Morrow, Republican Senator-elect from New Jersey, that "a repeal is possible within a reasonable time, nor his suggestion that, pending such repeal, the present Volstead law should be enforced".

He termed "still more unwise" the plan proposed by Charles H. Tuttle, defeated Republican gubernatorial candidate in New York, for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the adoption of a new amendment.

Beck contended, however, that the same political discretion which allowed Congress to pass the Volstead law would allow its repeal, adding: 'This is not nullification".

SAYS U. S. "WILL GO THROUGH HELL IN NEXT FOUR MONTHS

London, November 18.—The United States will "go through hell in the next four months as never before", said J. H. Thomas, Secretary of the Dominions, today, in an address before the American Chamber of Commerce.

"America is up against it just as we have been", Thomas said of the business depression. "You in America must have faith in your institutions and you have a right to be proud of them. For you have made no small contribution to world progress. They should be your guiding star. You should say: 'Yes, we are having a bad time of it, but just as clay goes through the fire and comes out purified, so shall we'. "

Francis E. Powell, president of the London American Chamber of Commerce, suggested a "five-year plan" for American industry based on the Russian idea to avoid future slumps. "Some Government departments could call together the heads of industries and lay production plans five years ahead", he elaborated later.

SIKESTON STREETS TO BE DECORATED DURING HOLIDAYS

A Chamber of Commerce meeting held Tuesday night in the New Armory, and attended by some thirty-five representative business men decided not to let Christmas of 1930 pass without lighting the Sikeston business district to fit the occasion.

The suggestion came from E. C. Matthews, who with Mayor N. E. Fuchs and H. C. Young, will report at an early date on the cost of lighting the business district with strands of colored lights.

Heretofore, the towns of Charleston, Dexter, Malden, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau and Cairo have been lighted for the Christmas season. Sikeston presented its usual gloomy appearance after nightfall. The plan this year is to have every merchant in the city to make special efforts to trim windows with seasonable merchandise, to use lights whenever and wherever possible for greater disply effects, and to keep alive the friendly, free-hearted Christmas spirit with special street decorations. C. E. Brenton, District Manager of the Missouri Utilities Company, stated that he would have an accurate estimate of the cost available for the committee within two days.

The Chamber of Commerce group also discussed ways and means of stimulating trade during the coming season, by carrying out a plan similar to that evolved and carried it successful conclusion by Cape Girardeau merchants. A committee was appointed to estimate the cost of the plan and to report this week-end to another called meeting.

CAMPBELL BANK LOCKS ITS DOORS

Campbell, November 19.—The First National Bank of Campbell, organized thirty years ago, was closed today by order of the board of directors. It is said frozen loans, the general business depression and crop conditions were factors in the closing.

The bank was a member of the Federal Reserve System and had capital and surplus of $50,000. It was one of nine banks in the county. One other bank remains in Campbell. The officers are N. M. Rice, president; O. H. Hall, vice president and T. A Wood, Jr., cashier.

Jefferson City, November 19.—The State Bank of Naylor, at Naylor, in Ripley County, was closed today by its board of directors. The bank had $74,508 in loan, $15,000 capital stock and $44,145 deposits.

JUDGE FINDS STILL ON FARM RECENTLY PURCHASED

Parma, November 19.—County Judge R. W. Baskin recently bought a farm near here at a tax sale, and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Geo. Carlisle he went to look over the purchase.

The net result of the visit was the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. George Keys on a charge of operating a still and and having possession of 6½ gallons of whisky. Keys and his wife were released after agreeing to pay the costs, and 'Dutch" Gullett, Grover Kennet and Wm. Hull signed as security.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

This is to notify our correspondents who send us carbon copies of news stories, that the practice is O. K. here but, and here's the catch to this: Please use better carbon paper, or thinner copy paper. What you write may be perfectly clear to you, but a o, e and c, look pretty much alike when the typewriter key makes one opaque blot. And we're still in good humor at that.

Longhand copy should be more carefully written. What you write must be read before it can be printed. Write only one ONE SIDE of paper. That is an elementary rule insisted upon by every newspaper office. One might make other suggestions, but these will do much to improve the correctness of articles intended for publication.

The Woman's Club will hold their next regular meeting with Mrs. Gid Daniels, Tuesday afternoon.

CATTLE THIEVES THRU REVENGE ABDUCT GIRL

New Madrid, November 18.—Search is being made of the woods on an island about two miles north of New Madrid for George and Dallas Gladjo, and Virginia Sickles, 12-year-old girl, whom they abducted from the tent home of her parents on the island Saturday night.

The girl's father, George Sickles, and the Gladjo brothers were partners in stealing cattle across the river from Alfred Stepp and S. A. Berryman. After killing the cattle they sold the meat in New Madrid. Sickles was arrested and confessed and also implicated the other two men, who, seeking revenge went to the tent where the Sickles lived, beat Mrs. Sickles, mother of six children, until she was severely bruised, and then took the 12-year-old daughter and departed.

The mother made her way to New Madrid and summoned help and she and the five children, ranging from 3 to 10 years, were brought here, where they were allowed to sleep in the courthouse and were furnished food by the County.

Because of the thick growth of willows and underbrush search for the men and girl has proven futile so far. Both men are married. Geo. has been married three times, each time to a 12-year-old girl. Search will be continued until the men are found. Because the family was suffering and without food or clothing, Sickles was released from jail, and charges were withdrawn by the plaintiffs.

BAPTIST REVIVAL GETS UNDER WAY

Rev. A. C. Rudloff, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city is being assisted in a revival campaign by the Rev. W. G. Winans, Little Rock, Ark., evangelist who conducted a successful campaign here three years ago, at which time there were about eighty additions to the membership of that church.

Evangelist Winans is directing the music of the revival as well as doing the preaching. Three choirs, assisted by two pianos and an orchestra make the song services a real attraction to those who enjoy gospel music and singing. A unique feature of the services is the junior choir in the balcony. "Alright now, let's hear the Heavenly Choir sing that chorus" the evangelist anounces and the fifty or more boys and girls will make the auditorium ring as they take up the song.

Much interest has been shown in the campaign from the first service last Sunday morning. Crowds have grown with each service this week and the full program of the evangelistic party will be launched next Tuesday, whne all-day meetings will begin. Morning services will be conducted at ten o'clock, cottage prayer meetings at 2:30 p. m. and the store meetings for men will be held at the same hour, 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Winans will meet with the junior boys and girls in a song rehearsal at 4 o'clock each afternoon next week, beginning Tuesday. Senior young people's inspirational services will be held each evening in the basement of the church at 7 o'clock and a prayer meeting for men will be conducted at the same hour. Evening services begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. 'Midnight in America" is the evangelists subject announced for Friday night and "Sister Lot Breaks into Society" is the subject for Saturday night. The subjects for Sunday are as follows: 11 a. m.—"Warning by the Devil's Fire"; 3:00—"The Inconsistency of the Pulpit and the Cruelty of the Pew"; 7:30—"The Antichrist", "The Big Dance' is the evangelist's subject for next Monday night.

We have never heard a single individual endorse the return of the saloon, but we have heard many condemn national prohibition and doubt if it could ever be enforced. Most local cases where arrests have been made of violations of the prohibition laws, small fines have been assessed, which meant little to the offender. Sympathy with the booze fighter and out of sympathy with prohibition enforcement have made the law considerable of a joke. In Canada if a man is caught violating their liquor law, all the money in the treasury would not keep him from serving a jail term. If our law enforcement officers would give 30 days on the street gang for a man under the influence of liquor, and make him work, fewer of them would come to our city. Then if the fellow who drives a car when drunk could be sent to the asylum for a couple of years or hit fifty licks with a black snake whip, maybe he wouldn't do it the second time. It looks as though those who favor the prohibition law fail to be an officer who could or would deliver the right kind of punishment. We favor repeal or modification, and will vote for any man who runs for Congress two years hence on that ticket.

The Standard heartily endorses the move to decorate and light up the business section of Sikeston during the month of December in order to show the public that we are a real live City. In addition to lighting, let us suggest all windows be decorated with lights and Christmas things. The Standard proposes to wash its windows in order to take away the summer decorations put on by the flies, and instead place colored lights. If the city is properly lighted and decorated many will drive in from surrounding communities to feast their eyes and do window shopping. If it is business our merchants are after, it might not be a bad idea to keep stores open for an hour or two after supper during part of the time. Every merchant and professional man should help on this decorating scheme in order to put us in the light for one Christmas.

AS I SEE IT

By I'm About Town

The writer at Kennett, who has doped it all out that K. H. S. has the mythical Southeast Missouri championship cinched this year, hands us a big laugh.

A similar situation in 1915 has been brought to our attention. Sikeston was to play Shelbina high for the championship of Missouri in a post-season game. Kennett horned in for a playoff with Sikeston. The challenge was accepted.

After the score reached 100, the last two quarters were cut short ten minutes each, holding the final count down to 147 to a big goose egg.

Of course, we are making no insinuations about the present status of the two teams, but "proving" anything by "dope" always reminds us of an incident which occurred in a logic class under Dr. Hudson at the University.

A fresh young thing offered the suggestion one afternoon that he had a new sylogism. "What is it?' quoth the Doctor. "Fishes swim. I swim, therefore I am a fish", answered the f. y. t.

A pause. Then said Dr. Hudson with just a faint trace of a smile: "Right you are, but that's is not the way you prove it".

It is unofficially reported that Dago Albright "put in" the day Tuesday working.

Our friend, Charles C. Pinnell, Class of '28, has gone forth in the world to seek fame and fortune along electrical lines. He will invade, and, we, hope, conquer the intricities of electrical engineering in one of a number of such schools near Los Angeles. At least, Charles should be able to get all the necessary vitimes D in that Sunshine State orange juice.

After three months of it, we'll wager, he'd trade a whole orange grove for one Missouri Starks' Delicious apple.

The knowledge of the world rests upon my shoulders, said our local truckman as he shifted a set of encyclopedia to a more comfortable position.

Mista Ed in the Cairo Evening Citizen, and the "Barbs" editor of the Cape Missourian, please note above.

Joe Savoldi, star back of the Notre Dame football team, has been allowed to "retire" from that institution. Joe made the mistake of getting married. Joe might think they done him wrong, but the major part of his education is still ahead.

We wonder what bright crack the Arkansas Gazette will have reprinted in the Literary Digest now that thirty banks in its territory have closed their doors.

A writer to the New York Sun suggests Roy Chapman Andrews as leader of the G. O. P. in '32, or sooner. Roy has been known to reconstruct an elephant starting out with nothing but the jawbone.

MORRISON FAMILY ENJOYS TRIP TO EAST TO NEW WORK IN NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

November 16, 1930.

C. L. Blanton, Sr.,
Sikeston, Mo.,
Dear Mr. Blanton:

The days have flown so swiftly it is hard to realize the lack of attention given my personal correspondence. Please pardon the seeming negligence.

The drive thru, 1127 miles from Sikeston to the center of Newark, N J., was delightful, altho' devoid of anything unusual. Leaving Thursday morning, we clipped along thru Illinois and into Indiana, reaching Greenfield, home of the Hoosier poet, about 6 p. m. Leaving there the next morning at 7:00 a. m., I was somewhat chagrinned later in the day to learn that we had lost an hour by not taking into consideration Eastern Standard Time! Driving this day through the rest of Indiana and Ohio, we stopped at Monongahela, Penn., in a blinding sleet storm. Contrary to our thought that we were in for a hard, cold trip from there on, this storm was localized and we outrode the effects thereof during our first hour the following morning. This day's drive through the ever changing country of Pennsylvania and New Jersey was exciting. Some of the grades were steep and it was seldom anyone was slow enough to get in your way! After hitting the N. J. line, I believe it is customary to add five miles per hour to whatever speed you may have been making previously!

Newark is surrounded by numerous smaller outlying towns and as no street (exceptions, of course) runs straight for over four blocks, it is mighty easy to get off the trail. We did, losing thirty minutes finding ourselves, winding up at our destination at about 8:00 p. m., Saturday.

Our furniture arrived in good shape and we are now comfortably located The apartment is in a clean new section, four miles from the office and facing a park. It takes me about 25 minutes to and from the office.

My work is supervision of the Foreclosed Property Section, Farm Properites, the duties being, briefly, as follows: Decision as to whether certain loans are to be carried on a collection basis or foreclosed. If on collection basis, the terms under which we will grant extension. When properties come into the Company, my section sees that they are promptly inspected, listed for sale at a certain price, and, if necessary, improved The rental, collection of rents and expenditures in connection with these properites and all sales propositions have the attention of my section, subject to my approval. Except in those cases where it is necessary for higher authority, my approval is accepted as final.

All of this work is familiar to me from actual field experience and I feel confident of my ability to "carry on" and after I become more familiar with the company's methods to be of added benefit to it. While the work at the office has been pleasant and everyone there most cordial, we are somewhat lonesome for a word from home, and this brings me to a very urgent question:

"How about forward The Sikeston Standard to us?"

We always looked forward to its receipt while in St. Louis and now that we are this far away, it will be doubly dear.

With warmest personal regards to yourself and yours, I am,

Cordialy yours,
HOWARD E. MORRISON.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue and authority of a transcript execution issued from the office of the Circuit Court of Scott County, Missouri, dated October 28th, 1930, made returnable to the March term of said Court, 1931, to the Sheriff of said Scott County, directed and to me delivered in favor of Cecil Reed, Admin. John Kaiser Estate, plaintiff, and against Adam Roush, defendant.

I have seized and levied upon all the right, title, claim, interest and estate of the above named defendant, Adam Roush of, in and to the following described real estate, situate, lying and being in said county of Scott, State of Missouri, to-wit:

All of one acre of land, bounded on the west by Moore avenue on the east side of Tanner's Addition to the City of Sikeston, and on the south by the public road on the North side of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railroad and being Two Hundred Nine (209) feet square, and being the same property acquired by the said defendant from Samuel Tanner and Frances A. Tanner by virtue of a certain warranty deed dated February 19th, 1902 and recorded in Book 47 at page 344 of the Recorder's office of Scott County, Missouri.

And I will on

Friday, November 21st, 1930

between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day at the East front door of the Court House in the Town of Benton, in Scott County, Missouri, and during the session of the Circuit Court of said Scott County, Missouri, at its November Term, 1930, aforesaid, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash all the right, title, interest, claim and estate of the said Adam Roush of, in and to the foregoing described real estate to satisfy said execution and costs.

TOM SCOTT,
Sheriff of Scott County, Missouri.

MONEY COMING IN EVERY WEEK FOR WORKING PEOPLE'S CHURCH

Every week since we have been asking for donations, money has been coming in for the new Sikeston church for working people.

Among the number who have contributed since last report, are: Brown Jewell, Constable; Sarsar's Store, McKnight-Keaton Wholesale Grocery Co., L. P. Gober of Vanduser, at one time Sheriff of Scott County; Marion Jewell, coal dealer; Sterling's Store, $10; a St. Louis Clothing Company.

Every cent of money to build this church building is coming from Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Catholics, Christians and Jews. The Methodists are leading in donations, the Jews next, while the others are not far behind. Three Catholics have already contributed and others have promised offerings.

Elder John B. Huffman, who has charge of many churches all over the United States, is raising money to erect this church, being a little different from all of his other churches, over which he is Supervisor or Chairman, because he realizes that nearly one-half of the people do not attend services anywhere and by erecting an edifice where the people will be invited to come in their overalls and house dresses, if they want to, or in their finest apparel, either, and where no creeds and doctrines will be preached, we have been assured by people in various towns that they would attend services at this kind of a church. Folks from 200 miles away have promised to attend as often as possible.

Elder Huffman will not receive any salary as pastor—just free will offerings, and he is spending his own money in stamps and stationery in writing scores of letters over the United States in behalf of this new edifice.

When I was in the newspaper business, I gave printing and money to every denomination asking for it in Sikeston at that time. Was for years a member of the Methodist church. Nearly forty years ago, before the flour mills were erected in Sikeston or about the time, the writer, then a school boy, helped out the Baptist church, which at that time had a real struggle for existence, because there were just a few women and a smaller number of men connected with it, by being janitor of the church for a period of months free of charge. The bell was situated on four posts, which were very rickety and sometimes the rope would get caught at the top of this improvised belfry and the writer had to climb to the top of it many times and unloosen the rope. During one Christmas tree occasion, they gave a small offering and a necktie for my services, and a tramp printer, (was apprentice in a printing office after school) stole the necktie. But I was glad to help the Baptists all I could and willing to render assistance to any worthy cause. The town was very small those days.

Elder Huffman has been in the Church of God for 18 years, First Corinthians, 1:2; Second Corinthians 1:1; Acts, 20:23; First Corinthians, 10:32; 11:16, 15:9, Galatians, 1:13; First Timothy, 3:5. We also do not have any church books, our church book being the Lamb's Book of Life. We use only the Bible, the whole Bible and preach and teach and believe all of it—this os our only discipline and guide book.

But it is none of our business what denomination you belong to, nor what your plan of worship or church government may be. You have a right under the Constitution of the United States to our own way of worship. If it suits you, it ought to suit everyone else, and it is none of anybody's business. It is the life you live, the pure and holy in heart who shall see God. Placing a certain label on a church building doesn't change your life. A sign reading, "Sugar", on a vinegar pail does not turn the sour to sweet. A sign, "harmless" upon the most deadly reptile would not keep him from biting you. A sign, "Honest Man" on a crook's back does not keep him from stealing and swindling. If one should place a pig in the White House and call him an angel from heaven, he would be a pig just the same. A sign, "Christian", on a notorious sinner, does not change up his life.

One must be born again and live a life that satisfies Jesus, and live it every day to become a Christian. I am not your judge. We have friends in every denomination and I invite one and all to our services when the church building is constructed.

Will thank one and all for a donation on the new church building. Send your donation to Elder John B. Huffman, Box 476, Sikeston. Every cent is deposited in bank and will be used for paying for church building and equipment. Thank you for your offering.—John Huffman

HORSE THIEF GETS 5-YEAR PRISON TERM

New Madrid, November 18.—Calvin Hill, of Parma, plead guilty Saturday afternoon to stealing a horse, and was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. J. R. Bennett of Risco, had ridden the horse to church and left it tied in front of the church and while he was attending services, Hill stole the animal and rode it to Sikeston, where he attempted to sell it to Brown Jewell, who becoming suspicious, discovered that he had stolen it.

W. S. Adcock of Portageville was arrested and placed in jail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons while intoxicated. He will be given a preliminary hearing this week.

Dan Brown, Cairo negro, was caught stealing corn from P. B. Wathen's field near New Madrid Saturday and was arrested and is awaiting a preliminary hearing in the County jail.

STERLING STORE BREAKS DRAB MONOTONY WITH CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

Manager Jim Hudgins has enjoyed the services of a whole flock of Santa's workers, if the present appearance of the largest store in Sikeston is any indication. From end to end the Variety Store bespeaks Christmas cheer, in decorations, and in the number and kind of merchandise displayed in show cases and in counters.

A "pre-season" showing of toys and gifts is something new for Sikestonians. Everyone knows the pleasure of shopping around in advance of the regular season, choosing gifts and making plans to have Santa deliver certain toys.

DRY WEATHER STILL PREVAILS IN MADISON

L. C. Lear, manager of the local Western Union Telegraph Company reports that the drought has not been broken in the vicinity of his home, Madison, Mo., where he visited last week-end. Wells and cisterns are either dry or very low, and strict regulations prevail governing the use of city water. Garages are forbidden to take car wash jobs, according to Mr. Lear, who brings the report that the community has suffered a drought of nearly six months duration. Madison is near Moberly.

My Friends: Correct Your Eating Faults and Lose Your Fat With Kruschen Salts

Yes: I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle that I bought for 85c at White's Drug Store, to liven me up—put ambition and energy into me—makes me feel years younger and with the help of a change in diet shows me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Cut out pastries and desserts—go easy on potatoes, cream, cheese, and butter—eat lean meat, chicken, fish, vegetables and fruits and never fail to take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the World sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.

DID you ever know that Health is sold by the bottle? Well it is---right from our Dairy in the form of rich, milk and cream. This is the food that brings roses into kiddies' cheeks, and their elders', too. A milk card is your ticket to Healthville.

Monday and Tuesday were such beautiful days that we thought we would write a paragraph on the "Beauties of Nature" for the Friday issue of The Standard, but after sleeping over a couple of nights, we have concluded it might be misunderstood at home and in some other households, as long as the flowers have been laid low by Jack Frost and the only other Beauties of Nature that we could think about, women, might be difficult to explain away. Then, again, Thursday morning opened up cold and drizzly that would take the beauty thoughts from a beauty specialist.

We hasten to apologize for the typographical error which made a "plumping" shop out of L. T. Davey's plumbing establishment in a small advertisement stating that the T. E. L. Class will conduct a bake sale there Tuesday, November 25. When one keeps in mind the fact that fine cookery will be on sale "plump" might not be such a bad expression in this connection after all.

Tuesday and Wednesday were all that one could ask within reason of the Gods who make the weather. Warm almost to discomfort, and clear. But then the heavens lowered and a grey, forbidding mist decends. It is very depressing, just when Al Daily had almost made up his mind to advertise spring garden seed.

BULLDOG GRIDDERS WILL PLAY FOUR HOME, FIVE AWAY GAMES NEXT YEAR

A complete football schedule for next season has been completed and is announced today by Coach M. C. Cunningham. The program will include Morley, Dexter, Chaffee and Charleston on the Sikeston gridiron, and Caruthersville, Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Doniphan and Cairo, Ill., on foreign fields.

The complete schedule follows:

SEPTEMBER—
25—Morley, here.

OCTOBER—
1 or 2—Caruthersville, there.
9—Charleston, there.
16—Dexter, here.
23—Poplar Bluff, there.
30—Chaffee, here.

NOVEMBER—
6—Doniphan, there.
14—Cairo, there.
26—Charleston, here.

At the present time, however, the Turkey Day classic at Charleston is more important to the Coach, team and fans alike, than the 1931 schedule.

The team was given a complete rest Monday afternoon after their strenuous battle with Cairo last Saturday, but the rest of the week has seen no let-up in either scrimmage or skull practice sessions. Scrimmage after school until six o'clock, and blackboard talks from seven until eight has been the order of things.

John Harris Marshall, brains of the Bluejay gridders who will entertain Sikeston on their home grid in the classic, was present Saturday and watched the Bulldogs battle the Cairoites to a scoreless deadlock.

Coach Marshall had most of his proteges here also watching the pile-driving attack of Cox, and the bullet-like passes from our Mr. Bennett. After watching Charleston watch Cox and Bennett, our guess is that those two worthies will have their hands full evading guards, tackles and the entire secondary defense. Cox has been the big surprise all season. Following the illness of Humphreys, which has kept him out of active competition nearly all season, Cox came to the front and in more recent battles has borne the brunt of offensive work. Captain Billie Fox is on the hospital list this week, which places still more of the ball-lugging responsibility on Cox and Bennett.

WILL APPOINT CORONER OF MADRID COUNTY SOON

New Madrid, November 19.—Gov. Henry S. Caulfield is expected to announce the appointment shortly of a coroner of New Madrid County to succeed D. A. Childs of Matthews who died recently. So far as could be ascertained no endorsements have been voted.

THANKSGIVING and what it means.....turkey and cranberry sauce. Or perhaps an extra helping of roast beef and corn bread in other surroundings. It might even be the occasion of a rare square meal in some homes which seldom if ever know the joys of sniffing a roast duck or gobbler browning under his coat of rich dressing and sauce. Even in the humblest homes, however, the occasion no matter what the menu should inspire thanks to God for life and health, a measure of happiness, good homes and shelter and whatever bread and meat is daily set before us.

SIKESTON BASKETBALL TEAMS OPEN SEASON AT FREDERICKTOWN

Even though everything now points to the final appearance of the Bulldog grid team in the annual Turkey Day classic with Charleston, the major winter sport, basketball, is not being neglected.

The schedule which includes 11 games exclusive of tournaments, will present the locals in six home contests. The season opens December 12 with Fredericktown at Fredericktown.

In addition to the annual boys' and girls' tourneys here, the Sikeston squads will appear in competition with teams in Scott County in the annual Benton classic, and this year the boys will be entered also in the all-Southeast Missouri competition in Cape Girardeau.

Coach Moore has not yet cut the squad to its final figure. At the present eight "old members" are turning out for daily practice. Included in this group are: Imogene Albritton, Ruby York, Ethyl Dunn, Elsie Conrad, Geneva Andres, Jeanette Baker and Childress. Much promising material is available, however, and former stars may have to fight for position before the starting whistle of the first game. Jenalee Sells, Charlene Gardner, Neva Mae Taylor, Marjorie Mow, Carrie Nell Mount, Mary Lou McCoy, Loyette Feltner, Margaret Mitchell, Helen Keith and Mary Young are included in the "tryout" group of would-be players.

Coach Cunningham has his last year's squad practically intact with Daniels, Jones, Whidden, Fox, the Hayden brothers and Cox available. Caverno, Kilgore, Inman, Engram, Bowman, Watson and Limbaugh are among the more promising young sters who are turning out for daily court practice. So far the practice squads number about twenty-five men, exclusive of football men who have not yet reported.

The schedule for this winter and spring follows:

DECEMBER—
12 Fredericktown, there.
18—Poplar Bluff, here.
19—Caruthersville, there.

JANUARY—
9—Fredericktown, here.
16—Charleston, here.
23—Matthews, there.
24—Cairo boys, there.
30—Malden, here.

FEBRUARY—
6—Chaffee, here.
13—Charleston, there.
14—Cairo boys and Benton girls here.
20—Boys' Tournament, here.
27—County Tournament, Benton.
6—Girls' Tournament, here.
6—Boys' tournament, Cape.

IT'S O. K. TO DRINK CITY WATER SAYS STATE HEALTH ENGINEER JOHNSON

Water samples collected on November 13 from city mains tested zero B coli per 100 cubic centimeters, according to a report issued Monday by W. Scott Johnson, chief Public Health Engineer of the Missouri State Board of Health. In other words, Sikeston residents may continue to drink city water with the assurance that the supply is pure.

The standard for safe drinking water is not to exceed an average of one B coli per 100 cubic centimeters (100 cc is about 1 cupful). B coli, a germ present in human and animal intestinal discharges, is used as an index of contamination. Where is is found in excess of the standards, the germs of typhoid, dysentery, colitis, and diarrhoea may at any time be present in quantities sufficient to cause sickness.

The above examination was made in accordance with the standard methods of water analysis of the American Public Health Association, and indicates the quality of the water at the time the sample was collected.

DEFUNCT RAILWAYS PAYS 5 PER CENT AFTER 16 YEARS

Cape Girardeau, November 18.—Although the Cape Girardeau Northern Railroad was placed in receivership 16 years ago, checks in payment of first general claims by creditors are being mailed this week by George W. Cross, receiver.

Five per cent of the claims are now being paid. The total being distributed at this time is $45,736.01. Prior to this payment preferred claims had been settled, amounting to $106,757. There are $175,000 in outstanding receivership certificates. Funds for the current payment were obtained thru sale of a portion of the old road to the Missouri Pacific Line. The original railroad extended from Illmo, Scott County, through Cape Girardeau and Jackson to Perry County.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS FORNFELT HUNTER

Last Saturday, Ed Scherer of Fornfelt and a party of friends went hunting. Scherer carried a 12-gauge automatic shotgun, and Sunday morning cleaned the weapon careful. A thread of an oily rag caught the trigger and a lone shell, overlooked in the magazine, exploded, killing Emelie Mary Scherer, 11, who was washing the breakfast dishes.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death by gunshot wounds at the hands of her father. George Dempster, coroner, conducted the investigation.

WALKING FOR FIRST TIME IN NINE MONTHS

Man Has Rheumatism and Other Ailments--Says 'Konjola Was a Godsend To Me"

MR. FREDERICK A. GOODWIN

"Last September I had a slight injury from which rheumatism developed", said Mr. Frederick A. Goodwin, 905 North Street, Joplin. "My nervous system gave way. I lost my appetite and I had a severe case of kidney trouble. I lost fifty pounds in weight. My limbs became useless from the waist down and I suffered agony from intense pains.

"After Konjola was sincerely recommneded I decided to give it a trial. I have only taken four bottles of this great medicine and with the aid of a cane I am walking for the first time in nine months. The pains have left my leg and back, my nerves are settled and I am daily gaining in my strength. I am so enthused about Konjola that I talk about it all the time".

It is a delicate and dangerous subject to say things for or against a banker, the bank, or banks in general, but at this time with so many banks closing their doors, temporary or permanently, consolidations, etc., it is no time for those who have much or little in a bank to start whisperings that might cause a run that would be embarrassing to the bank and to the depositors. Small banks throughout the agricultural sections who have loaned money to farmers have been unable to realize on all their paper and have had losses to stockholders and depositors. Big city banks who have officers gambling in the stock markets have lost millions to stockholders, but depositors lost nothing. Our local banks are as solid as Gibralter and are doing a strictly banking business on conservative lines. While we are setting on top of the earth in the banking business, other sections are uneasy and bordering onto a panic. We would like to see a law passed that would guarantee depositors against loss should the doors of a bank be closed for any reason whatever. Some States have such a law, and a mighty good one at that. Without our financial institutions business of all kinds would be in a terrible condition.

A woman returning from a Prison Congress in Europe, brings with her the information that Germany has found that quiet and order in penal institutions are promoted when business men and teachers replace army men as prison guards. This seems reasonable. Many outside the bars are still waiting for a chance to choke the World War top sergeant to death.

We are not, we hope, fanatical on the subject of cigarettes, but we fear there is trouble in the future for the numerous small boys who are smoking. It is no uncommon thing to see little fellows six and seven years old, puffing a cigarette as they go to and from school. Teachers report that more and more little boys are smoking. Smoking may not hurt an adult, and probably doesn't to any great extent, but educators and medical men agree that the mentality and morality of children is injured by smoking.—Fredericktown Democrat.

DE PROFOUNDS

Out of the ruck of elections, Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York and Democracy's candidate for the Presidency three years ago, looms, in the opinion of eastern observers, as the outstanding political figure in the United States. Without exception, commentators credit him with Roosevelt's election and ascribe to his personality and force the overwhelming defeat given the Republicans last week.

Added indications of Smith's influence are found in the results of his short incursion into Massachusetts in behalf of Marcus Aurelius Coolidge, Democratic nominee for the senate, who was elected over William Morgan Butler, for whom Calvin Coolidge spoke over the radio. In his every appearance Smith was cheered to the echo, and his addresses were the same logical, hard-hitting appeals to common sense that marked his campaign speeches against Hoover. In Boston, the crowded house roared with laughter when he asked: "Where are all those chickens that were to be in every pot? What became of the automobiles and silk stockings for everybody?"

These facts, coupled with Roosevelt's announcement that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, set Smith forth again as his party's only choice for the nomination in 1932. In his favor are, first, the 15,000,000 votes he received in 1928 and that will stick with him through thick and thin; second, Hoover's failure to measure up; third, the Republican party's inability to better business conditions; fourth, the admitted fact that never again will the Republicans be able to align the forces of bigotry and fanaticism as they did in the last campaign; and, fifth, the steadily increasing insistence that there must be a modification of Prohibition.

With Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and Illinois definitely in the wet column; with California's new governor admittedly the standard bearer of the Wets, and with a gradual weakening of Dry influence generally throughout the United States conservative observers see hope for the release of the American people from the heavy and galling domination of the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance prohibition and Public Morals, and all those other forces of religious persecution which have combined aginst American principles during the past quarter of a century, and which in an evil hour were enabled by His Satanic Majesty to enthrone Prohibition on the pedestal where once Liberty sat.— San Diego Herald.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS IS HIGHLY PROBABLE

Washington, November 18.—An extra session of the newly-elected Congress, starting early next spring and prolonging the inevitable fireworks well into the summer, today looms as a lively possibility, despite all administration efforts to forestall it.

Failure of the present Congress to pass the regular appropriation bills at the short or "lame duck" session which convenes December 1 and expires March 4, would practically compel President Hoover to summon a special session of the new Congress soon afterward. Regardless of assurances of "co-operation" from some Democratic leaders, there are multiplying signs that the bills may not get under the wire.

Statements by progressive leaders and by influential Democratic members convey a warning today that the supply bills may be blocked unless the administration withdraws its opposition to certain measures. These include the Norris bill for Government operation of Muscle Shoals, the Norris amendment to abolish 'lame duck' sessions, the Wagner unemployment bills, the Senate anti-injunction bill and other important legislative proposals.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, leader of the Republican Progressives, is generally believed to hold the key to the situation. Speaking over long-distance telephone from Lincoln Neb., last night, he told the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he believed there should be prompt action on all the foregoing measures, and that if the administration persisted in blocking their consideration at the short session, it would have to take the responsibility for precipitating a special session.

Earlier in the day Senators Walsh of Montana, Democrat, and Borah of Idaho, Republican Progressive, although denying any intention to filibuster, expressed a doubt as to whether there would be sufficient time in the short session to give proper consideration to all the measures which they believe should be considered. In that event, they point out, a special session might become unavoidable, Borah remarking that "with the country in its present condition, there would be no excuse for Congress wasting six perfectly good months before taking action to relieve the situation".

To the list of measures enumerated by Norris as requiring prompt action, Senator Walsh added on his own account the protocol of adherence to the World Court, and the Couzens bill providing for Federal regulation of interstate motorbus rates.

Walsh declared that the debenture plan should be adopted as soon as possible, but he saw no hope for it in the short session, since it must originate in the House, and during the short session the House will remain under old guard Republican control.

In view of all the time that would be required to discuss that vote upon the foregoing measures, Walsh said it hardly seemed possible to complete the task before March 4, and since most of them will come up, in the Senate at least, before the appropriation bills, he concluded that a special session was likely.

Borah, reiterating his previous declaration that he did not intend to be "stampeded" into voting for any legislation during the coming session without "orderly and proper consideration", added that the unemployment situation demanded immediate action on the part of Congress. He said that while he would support the Wagner measures, he is convinced the present condition requires emergency legislation.

To all these thinly veiled warnings from progressive sources, was added another from one of the administration leaders in the Senate. McNary of Oregon, the Republican whip, who previously had announced his determination to press for immediate action on the Muscle Shoals bill, yesterday took steps to call a conference of farm leaders for next Monday, for the purpose of discussing possible relief legislation at the coming session

Senator Robinson of Arkansas Democratic leader in the Senate, one of the seven prominent Democrats who signed the offer to "co-operate" with the administration during the coming session, has not returned to Washington. President Hover last week stated that he had received certain "assurances" from Robinson but the White Hiuse still declines to make Robinson's letter public, altho' he has stated he would be glad to have Robinson to do so. Courtesy and usage prevents Robinson from disclosing what he wrote to the President.

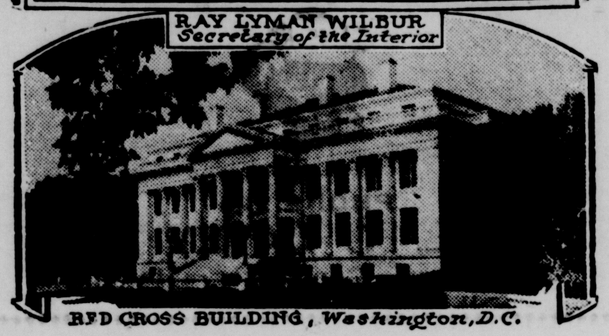
Street Accidents Take Thousands of Child Lives

RAY LYMAN WILBUR
Secretary of the Interior



RED CROSS BUILDING, Washington, D.C.

Estimate Based Upon Accident Statistics, Says Secretary Wilbur

Washington, D. C.—If history repeats itself, many thousands of children will be killed or maimed by automobiles within the next twelve months in the United States.

This statement, according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, is based upon the accident statistics of past years.

"When I was a boy," said Secretary Wilbur, "the only thing we feared out in the open country, was a rattlesnake. But the rattlesnake is a domestic pet compared with the automobile. Rattlesnakes may kill a few thousand persons a year in this country, but automobiles kill thousands of children alone, because our safety precautions are not as modern as our mode of travel.

"Worst of all, the automobile is only one of the many new modern dangers to which our children are exposed.

"Members of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection which will meet in Washington November 19-22 at the call of President Hoover, have been working for the past year upon the problems of childhood.

"All they have discovered—that is, every bit of scientific knowledge relative to children now in existence in the field of medical service, public health, education and training—will later be at the service of what the President has rightly called the 'deeply concerned parents' of this country."

More than 1,100 experts from every field will gather at the Red Cross and D. A. R. buildings in Washington for the Conference. Secretary Wilbur, as chairman, will make the closing address. The Secretary has served both the American Medical Association and Stanford University as president.

YOUNG ATTORNEY STILL OUT OF JOB ALTHOUGH ELECTED BY PEOPLE

Chaffee, November 20.—An attempt to arbitrate the controversy involving the office of city attorney here failed at a meeting of the City Council Wednesday night. The Council did not seat W. L. Oliver, who was elected city attorney last April, and Oliver said he will bring mandamus proceedings to compel the city to seat him in office with compensation for the entire term.

Oliver defeated E. M. Munger in the election for the office, but owing to a city ordinance a year's residence in the city was required to hold office, and the City Council refused to seat Oliver on the grounds that he was not qualified. He moved to Chaffee in September, as did his opponent.

Action for salary was later instituted by Oliver and was taken on a change of venue from Scott County to New Madrid County. Later the suit was dismissed by Oliver in order to bring mandamus proceedings. It was thought that an agreement could be arranged at the meeting Wednesday night and thus avoid further litigation.

The city has retained Munger as attorney during the present difficulty.

ANNOUNCEMENT ENGAGEMENT OF MISS MARGARET MOORE, PROMINENT CHARLESTONIAN

Charleston, November 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Moore of this city this week announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Stpehens Moore to Mr. James Dent Thurmond. The ceremony will take place at high noon, Saturday, November 22, at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, with Rev L. R. Jenkins, pastor of Scruggs Memorial Church of that city, officiating.

Miss Moore will be given in marriage by her father, Col. Paul B. Moore, and her only attendant will be her sister, Miss Joella Moore, who will serve as maid of honor.

Mr. Thurmond will be attended by Lon Stephens Moore, the bride's brother, as best man, and Paul Handy Moore as groomsman. Only relatives and a few intimate friends will witnessing the ceremoney, following which a wedding luncheon will be served the bridal party and guests.

Miss Moore is a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in the State. Her father is one of the most prominent business men and one of the largest land owners in Southeast Missouri. She is a neice of the late Gov. Lon D. Stephens of St Louis. She attended grade school in Charleston, after which she spent one year at Lennox Hall, St. Louis. Then following her graduation from National Park Seminary at Washington, D. C., she traveled extensively with her family in European countries, Central and South America and the West Indies.

Mr. Thurmond is a native of Georgia. Upon completing his high school course, he entered Georgia Tech, graduating as a Civil Engineer in 1924.

He joined the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and after two years' service, was stationed for a two-year professional Mission in the Philippine Islands, and afterward in China and Japan.

The bride and groom will travel for three weeks, visiting the groom's parents and relatives. They will travel along the Gulf Coast to New Orleans and other Southern cities before taking up their temporary residence in Texas.

GALLOWAY'S INSTALL NEW LUNCHEONETTE FOUNTAIN

Installation work on a new 16-foot luncheonete soda fountain with self contained refrigeration unit, sandwich compartment, and all modern appointments was completed Thursday evening for Galloway's drug store.

About fifteen months ago, young Galloway came to Sikeston and purchased the Hess Drug Store, located on the corner of Center and New Madrid Streets. Changes were made in the general layout of the store, and within a short time, an ordinary 12 foot fountain was installed. Last year other changes were made in the new establishment, notably an enlargement of quarters to include the adjoining store room.

The corner location modernized by up-to-date business practices, and by a consistent advertising program have had their effect. The first small fountain had to be replaced, this time by the latest, modern equipment.

The fountain is finished in glazed terra cotta, with black luncheonette counter, white porcelain and nickle Twelve individual chairs in green leather and wicker work are provided.

A delegation of Sikeston patrons of the store observed Wednesday evening while workmen were installing the fountain that "dress suits might be looked for as the next requirement for service at the new, ritzy fountain.

STACCATO CLICKS OF MORSE FADE AS SIMPLEX MACHINES ASSUME THEIR DUTY

At exactly 8:30 Thursday morning October 16, a ribbon tape crawled out of the slit at the side of the new Simplex Telegraph machines in the local Western Union office, and silenced the familiar staccato trat! trat! tratatr-r of the Morse sounders amplified possibly by a tin tobacco can wedged securely in the sounding box.

A slight hum and the steady tap, tap as of typewriter keys, and the ribbon appeared with its message for the Scott County Milling Company.

The change to automatic telegraphy has been so sudden that 82 per cent of the wire traffic is now handled by Simplex and Mulitplex. A similar revolution in another industry might have thrown thousands out of employment, but the compensations of healthy growth saved the Morsemen whose educated fingers kept pace with the throbbing or waning pulse of this industrial nation in years past.

Much of the magic, the mystery and the glamor of the old days has faded with this tiny box which spits out ribbons of information at the gentle touch of typewriter keys. The old days are recalled, when operators sat knowingly before their keys and translated intelligible words into meaningless dots and dashes, or smoked with supreme nonchalance as they retranslated a constant buzz of clicks and beats into English characters.

In a majority of instances, the operator of the Simplex printers are young women. The operator sits before this super-typewriter, which has eveything but its keyboard housed in a glass and metal jacket, and taps out a word on the keys. Letter by letter the electric impulses of that word slip out over the wire to a distant city, setting up impulses in another super-typewriter at that end in such a manner that the corresponding typebars are pulled down and the message is typewritten on the dry side of a gummed paper tape. Another girl seated before the super-typewriter at the distant end picks up the tape as it flows from the machine and with the aid of a small gumming instrument, glues it rapidly to a telegraph or cable message blank after which the message is ready for delivery.

The girl may be typewriting over a distance of several hundred miles It is as if the keys she depressed were attached to typebars several hundred miles long, each typebar registering on the distant tape practically instantaneously despite the great distance. As she types the message which is recorded by the distant machine, the same message likewise is printed on a paper tape emerging from her own machine, so that the sending office has a perfect record of what has been transmitted. When the distant office wishes to send, the home operator merely stops typewriting and the original process is reversed.

Theoretically there is no limit to the distance over which this novel form of long distance typewriting can be operated. Actually, the only limitations are those imposed by traffic conditions. For practical consideration the Simplex printers are installed only between cities whose volume of telegraph traffic is such as is best adapted to the Simplex Printer Service. And for this reason, it is coming into wide use in the financial district of New York, where great banking institutions need to be on quick and constant communication with the central telegraph office. Some 2000 Simplex printers are now in use in various parts of the Western Union system, and it is expected that during the next four years this number will be increased to approximately 10,000.

Whereas only two channels are possible with Morse, that is one message each way at thirty words per minute, Simplex sends messages on eight channels, each at sixty words per minute. On machines developed to a state of still greater perfection there are fourteen channels in each direction. Twenty-eight messages on a pair of wires!

Metropolitan newspapers make use of Simplex telegraphy in still another manner. Machines similar to those installed here, tap out at regular hours during the day, the news of the world. The only practical difference lies in the fact that the message comes typed on an endless roll of paper usually as wide as a regulation letterhead, instead of being printed on a narrow tape.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES TO ASSIST RED CROSS IN COLLECTING CLOTHING FOR NEEDY

According to a plan advanced this week by C. E. Brenton, Chairman of the Scott County Red Cross, Sikeston churches through Missionary Societies will collect and assist in distribution of clothing to needy families and individuals this winter. This phase of relief work will be superintended by Earl Malone, who heads the church mission groups as chairman.

An organization will be perfected and a date set for bringing clothing, shoes and other articles to a central point possibly within two weeks.

A national radio program received locally through the Louisville, Ky. station broadcast an appeal dedicated to all benvolent associations similar to the local appeal. Everyone is asked to go through the attic, trunk, clothes chests and donate whatever can be spared. It will be needed.

All kinds of winter clothing, underwear, shirts, dresses, shoes, caps etc., will be much in demand as soon as cold weather comes. The present appeal comes to you to make that extra effort to spare some garment so that when the appeal comes to the local Red Cross office, it can be heeded.

FORMER SIKESTONIAN SUCCUMBS IN JOPLIN

Loundes D. Randol, formerly district manager of the Southeast Missouri Bell Telephone Company with offices here, and more recently connected in a similar capacity in Joplin, Mo., died Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Randol had been ill for some time with pernicious anemia but had not been kept from his work until last Sunday.

The late Mr. Randol was promoted two years ago to a better position in the district office at Cape Girardeau, the family moving from Sikeston to that city. In December, 1929, he was transferred to Joplin.

Funeral services were conducted in the Joplin Methodist church Thursday afternoon, after which the body was sent to Sikeston. It will lie in state at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Welter. Services will be conducted in the local Methodist church Sunday afternoon, with interment in the Sikeston City Cemetery. Dempster will be in charge.

Surviving are his wife, and three daughters, Cornelia and Virginia Randol, of Joplin and Mrs. Arnold Stone of Buffalo, New York.

Mr. Randol is the son of the late R. D. "Bob" Randol and wife, and was born in the old family homestead which was wrecked some years ago. The Del Rey building now occupies the site.

Misses Ruby Evans and Clara Lindley returned from St. Louis Thursday morning.

Mrs. Charles McMullin returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit to Cape Girardeau.

C. D. Mathews, Jr., returned Wednesday night from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended a convention of National Highway Commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Marshall of Caruthersville spent Sunday afternoon in Sikeston as the guests of Mrs. Florence Marshal anld Miss Kate Austin.

Mesdames Betty Matthews, Laura Smith, A. J. Moore, Kate Harris, C. L. Blanton, Sr., and Miss Susanna Corrigan drove to Dexter Thursday to attend a quilt demonstration.

In selecting your Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey look for the tag that indicates U. S. Government graded birds. "Prime", "choice", and "mediums" are the usual grades shown by a small round tag attached to the leg.

Roast a young turkey on a rack in an open pan without adding water. When the outside has been lightly browned in a hot oven reduce the temperature to moderate and continue to cook a 10-pound to 12 pound turkey for about two and a half hours longer. A mature bird requires an hour or more longer than a young one and it needs to be covered part of the time.

In treating grease spots with cleaning fluids, place a clean pad under the material to be cleaned, a white blotter on top of that, and the garment with the right side next to the blotter. Work lightly from the outside of the spot toward the center, and spread the moisture unevenly into the surrounding goods. "Feathering" out the liquid into the fabric helps to prevent a ring from forming.

Whipped cream dressings is especially good with cabbage salad, but it may be used for any salad you like. To make it, beat half a pint of heavy whipping cream until stiff, add four and one-half tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons fresh grated horseradish, a grating of onion, a few drops of tabasco, and salt to taste. A dash of cayene pepper may be used instead of tabasco. If the horseradish is in vinegar use only 2 tablespoons of lemon.

N. A. JOHNSON DIES IN LITTLETON, COLORADO

A message was received Wednesday notifying relatives that N. A. Johnson of Littleton, Colo., had passed away last Tuesday, November 18 at 9 o'clock. He was 69 years old.

He leaves besides his wife, one brother, Charles Johnson and a nephew, James Johnson, both of this city, three sisters, Mrs. Mary Richards of Oran and two of Cairo.

Mr. Johnson was formerly a resident of Sikeston, moving to Littleton Colo., fourteen years ago. For the past two years he had been ill with cancer. Services and interment were in the Colorado city.

FIVE CARS INVOLVED IN SINGLE AUTO WRECK

One truck left the highway south of New Madrid Tuesday afternoon with the result that four brand new Chevrolet cars being transported to points north of Sikeston, were damaged. The driver of one of a fleet of five auto truck-trailers, each carrying four new cars, wrecked his carryal and catapulted the four new machines into a ditch.

Two of the huge truck-trailers came through Sikeston about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and continued their journey east and north.

Oak Gains Popularity

NEW fashions in furniture and woodwork are sometimes just as pronounced as the style trends in gowns and millinery! The use of oak in the home, for example, is now becoming more and more popular. Not in the golden finishes of the gay nineties, to be sure—but in the rich dark brown tones. There seems to be much frank sturdiness and sincerity in oak. It's said that in classical times this tree was the emblem of hospitality.

The English styles of furniture in oak are extremely popular now, and good reproductions of the Jacobean and Elizabethan period as well as the simpler Georgian examples may be had at moderate prices. In the warmer sections of this country, the Spanish and Italian designs in oak are especially well liked.

A real test of a woman's ingenuity and good taste comes when she tries to group different periods together harmoniously in her rooms. This ensemble plan is now the most approved method of interior decorating—but it requires an intelligent appreciation of wood finishes and designs. A room background of oak woodwork provides a very sympathetic setting for a pleasantly mixed collection of furniture.

The woman who is following the fashion of having more oak in her home should have a rather specialized knowledge of how to take care of such furniture and woodwork. For oak is one of the open-grain woods, and it is thus especially apt to absorb dust and grime in its pores unless correctly treated. A coating of liquid wax, allowed to dry a few minutes and then rubbed lightly with a soft cloth will protect the oak from ingrained dirt, and will also give a flatteringly mellow, rich tone to the wood. Then the only cleaning ever necessary is a little liquid wax applied occasionally to loosen the accumulation of surface dirt.

Whenever oak furniture is used—especially if the woodwork of the room is of that wood, or if the walls are paneled in oak—there is a need for enlivening, colorful fabrics. Crewel embroidered linen or satin damask, perhaps in green or red shades, are delightful for draperies. Upholstering materials may be warm hued leathers, or hand blocked linens, cheerful damasks or velvets.

CONDUCT LAST RITES FOR OLIVER HAY, 61, OF CHARLESTON

Charleston, November 18.—Funeral services were held in this city Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Oliver Hay, aged 61 years, who died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ward DeFields, following a few days' illness of pneumonia.

The services which were held at the home of Mrs. DeFields, were conducted by Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Lair Company directed the funeral.

Mr. Hay was born March 26, 1869. He was a resident of Bertrand and was connected with E. Lett in the State Highway work. He is survived by three children, Mrs. Ward De Fields of this city, Miss Justine Hay of St. Louis and Frank Hay of Cairo.

VOLSTEAD LAW REPEAL URGED BY JAMES M. BECK

Washington, November 17.—To the plans advanced for prohibition changes today was added a suggestion that the Volstead act be repealed, leaving enforcement of the eighteenth amendment to the States.

This was proposed by Representative James M. Beck (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, who once was Solicitor General of the United States. He said that while repeal of the eighteenth amendment was the ultimate objective any attempt to secure it now would meet such a defeat as to postpone "any practical relief for another generation".

Yet he asserted, offering the recent election results as evidence, any political party which attempted to sidestep prohibition as an issue would be doomed to defeat.

Although the President Law Enforcement Commission does not intend to recommend repeal of the eighteenth amendment, or a national referendum on the question, speculation on the contents of its prohibition report, has not dwelt seriously on the possibility of a plan such as that advanced by the Pennsylvania Representative. In fact, a belief has been spreading here that the principal recommendations of the group will deal with changes to strengthen the existing system.

Another development was a demand by Representative Tinkham (Rep.), Massachusetts, that Attorney-General Mitchell place before a Federal grand jury his charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of violating the corrupt practices.

The Tinkham accusations, repeatedly made, were based on the failure of the Southern Methodist churchman and prohibition leader to report to the House parts of contributions received of his Virginia anti-Smith campaign in 1928. Bishop Cannon is in a hsopital here, suffering from arthritis.

Beck, in setting forth his proposal, expressed belief that the next Congress would be much more closely divided on prohibition than indicated by the election returns. The attempt at Volstead law repeal should be made when Congress meets next year, he said, and if it failed he urged an effort to withhold appropriations for enforcement.

Although holding repeal of the amendment to be the "ultimate objective', the Pennsylvanian attacked as unwise those advocating outright repeal at this time. He said that at least 20 States would quickly block the move.

"Indeed", he said, "if a resolution were now adopted by Congress to submit the question of repeal to the States, the result would be a foregone conclusion and would postpone any practical relief for another generation".

Beck said he could not share the confidence of Dwight W. Morrow, Republican Senator-elect from New Jersey, that "a repeal is possible within a reasonable time, nor his suggestion that, pending such repeal, the present Volstead law should be enforced".

He termed "still more unwise" the plan proposed by Charles H. Tuttle, defeated Republican gubernatorial candidate in New York, for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the adoption of a new amendment.

Beck contended, however, that the same political discretion which allowed Congress to pass the Volstead law would allow its repeal, adding: 'This is not nullification".

SAYS U. S. "WILL GO THROUGH HELL IN NEXT FOUR MONTHS

London, November 18.—The United States will "go through hell in the next four months as never before", said J. H. Thomas, Secretary of the Dominions, today, in an address before the American Chamber of Commerce.

"America is up against it just as we have been", Thomas said of the business depression. "You in America must have faith in your institutions and you have a right to be proud of them. For you have made no small contribution to world progress. They should be your guiding star. You should say: 'Yes, we are having a bad time of it, but just as clay goes through the fire and comes out purified, so shall we'. "

Francis E. Powell, president of the London American Chamber of Commerce, suggested a "five-year plan" for American industry based on the Russian idea to avoid future slumps. "Some Government departments could call together the heads of industries and lay production plans five years ahead", he elaborated later.

MULES WILL EAT COTTON SEED

Carrollton, Ga.—A negro tenant on the plantation of Col. Sid Holderness here made a discovery his employer says is worth $10,000,000 to Georgia cotton farmers.

Henry Parks discovered that mules liked to eat boiled cottonseed. Henry boils seed for his mules because it "lays the lint" left on them at the gin then adds a pinch of salt.

Col. Holderness estimates the saving to Georgia farmers this year alone would amount to $10,000,000 if they would feed their cottonseed to work animals rather than sell it at the prevailing price of 27c a bushel in order to buy corn at $1.25 a bushel.
